PINCHOT SAYS BALLINGER LIED TO TAFT

Former Forester Goes on the Stand and Accuses Secretary.

DECLARES HE SHOULD BE PROMPTLY DISMISSED

Sensational Statements Made to the Senate Investigating Committee.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Gifford Pinchot, taking the witness stand at the Ballinger-Pinchot inquiry this afternoon, read a statement to the committee before being sworn, in which he charged Secretary Ballinger with falsehood and disloyalty to President Taft and declared that Mr. Ballinger should be dismissed from the service.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Mr. Pinchot made to the Ballinger-Pinchot investigating committee the following statement of his charges against Secretary Ballinger when he went on the stand today. "What I desire to lay before the committee is a consecutive story of my experience with Mr. Ballinger in relation to the conservation of natural resources. Among several other matters there are three of unusual importance to be called to your attention.

CONCERNS WATER POWER SITES
"The first of these concerns the policy devised and inaugurated by the secretary in the administration of protecting against monopolistic control the water power sites owned by the people.
"I shall show you that Secretary Ballinger entered his office with the clear determination to make short work of that policy; that he reversed it so far as he was allowed to do so; that he restored the power sites to entry without the remotest idea of re-withdrawing them; and finally, when I charged him last autumn to the President with being an enemy of the policy of conservation, he capped the climax by giving to the President himself an explanation of his conduct that was essentially false.

HOW SERVICE WAS INVOLVED.
"The second has to do with my connection as a government officer with the Cunningham coal mines and with the Glavis charges. I shall show you how the forest service became involved in these cases and how Glavis submitted his facts to me. I believed then, as I believe now, that he told the truth. "I am convinced now, as I was when he came to me, that Glavis was a faithful public servant and that the facts which he presented proved that Mr. Ballinger had been unfaithful to his trust as a servant of the people, and as the guardian of public property of enormous value.
"I shall show that since I learned the facts you have been hearing of, and others which I am about to lay before you, I have acted steadily in the light of them, as it was my duty both as a public officer and as a citizen to do. I shall show you that in pursuance of that duty I laid before the President, both by word of mouth and in a letter of November 4th, a statement of my conviction that Secretary Ballinger had been a dangerous enemy to conservation.

BARR IS RECALLED.
W. W. Barr, the Seattle timber man, who became so tangled up on the stand yesterday when testifying as to an agreement he had entered into with Louis R. Glavis as to the location of timber claims following the latter's dismissal from the service, was recalled today.

The witness was questioned further concerning his timber operations.
The questions were directed in the endeavor to prove that while Glavis is charging Ballinger with having become counsel for a few further questions after being land commissioner and giving the claimants the benefit of knowledge obtained in the government service, Glavis himself is now making use of his knowledge of public lands by entering into an agreement with a timber dealer.
Barr said he had with his office in Seattle to send out the agreement between himself and Glavis.

ANOTHER WITNESS RECALLED.
Andrew Kennedy, the coal expert who testified yesterday also was recalled this morning to answer a few further questions. Kennedy said he had been instructed by Glavis to work in harmony with a coal expert sent by the forest service to Alaska, on that Glavis had never attempted to influence him in making any finding or report. Kennedy said he found it impossible to work wholly in

AUGUST BELMONT GETS LICENSE TO WED MISS ROBSON

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—It was learned today that the marriage license bureau in the city hall kept open after hours last night for the issuance of a marriage license to August Belmont and Eleanor Elsie Robson, the actress, whose engagement was recently announced. Mr. Belmont made the arrangement by telephone.
On the application for the license Mr. Belmont gave his age as 37 years, while Miss Robson's age was given as 31.

CONFESSES HE MURDERED FAMILY OF 3

Two Negroes Brutally Kill a Farmer, His Wife and Their Child.

ADMITS HAVING SLAIN ANOTHER OF HIS RACE

Pleads Guilty and Sentenced to the Penitentiary for Life.

PITTSBURG, Kan., Feb. 26.—Gus Thomas, alias Ed Young, a negro, aged 28 years, confessed at Guard, near here, last night to the murder of William Bork, a white farmer, the latter's wife and child, and another negro. He was arraigned secretly last night, pleaded guilty, was sentenced to imprisonment for life, and was taken to the penitentiary at Lansing today.

Thomas implicated Ed Challes, another negro, who was arrested with him. Challes was hurried away to the jail at Fort Scott, Kan., for safe keeping.

Besides the four murders the negro confessed that he and Challes had committed numerous highway robberies.

ARREST KEPT SECRET.

Thomas and Challes were arrested in Guard Thursday, but their arrest was kept a secret.
The crimes were the most brutal ever committed in this section.

Bork apparently was killed first, before he could leave the vehicle in which he and his wife and child were driving when attacked. He was shot in the back.

Then the child was despatched, evidently to prevent its giving an alarm.
The woman was next attacked. She was rendered unconscious by a blow on the head and dragged to a nearby cornfield.

When the bodies were found next day those of Bork and his wife were badly mutilated and there were evidences that the couple had made a terrific fight for their lives. The bodies had been robbed.

CONFESSES ANOTHER CRIME.

Thomas also confessed to the murder and robbery a year ago of James White, a negro, at Dunkirk, a mining camp ten miles from here. After shooting him, White's murderer cut his throat, robbed the body and threw it under the ice of a pond.

Thomas and Challes were arrested on a voluntary statement made by the wife of Thomas to the wife of an attorney of Guard that she believed her husband guilty of some crime, as she had washed blood stains from his clothing.

TAFT SEEKING TO IMPROVE PERSONNEL OF NAVY

Sends Special Message to Congress on Subject of Officers.

REORGANIZE THE LINE IS PRESIDENT'S DESIRE

Secretary Meyer Prepares Bill for Submission to the Lawmakers.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—President Taft today sent a special message to Congress urging improvement of the personnel of the navy. The President's message outlines a bill prepared by Secretary Meyer which would reduce the ages of the senior officers and reorganize the line.

The President declares that the line of the navy is in an abnormal condition because of past legislation and that under existing conditions young officers will have little opportunity for promotion for years to come. The President cites, for example, that from now on 160 officers will enter the junior lieutenants' grade each year, while only 40 will be promoted out of it.

The effect of the measure, which Secretary Meyer has prepared, and which the President approves, would be to promote officers to the grade of captain at the average age of 48 or 47 years and to the grade of Rear Admiral at the age of 56.

The schedule of personnel of officers and men would be based upon the tonnage of effective ship and increases or decreases to the navy would affect the personnel in a fixed proportion. The personnel of the navy would be increased to 67,500 men, about 3000 more than at present.

Roosevelt Expected to Arrive at Refaj

Plans Are Being Made to Give Reception to Mighty Hunter.

GONDOKORO, Sudan, on the Upper Nile, Feb. 26.—This was breaking-up day for the Smithsonian African scientific expedition, all of the porters and half of the servants returning to Kampala and Nairobi. Colonel Roosevelt and Kermit Roosevelt, who were to return to Refaj today, are expected here on the Belgian steamer tomorrow.

Colonel Roosevelt's hunting party will leave again Monday for a shoot on Lake No, a body of water on the lower reaches of the Nile, which is so overgrown with weeds that its exact extent has never been determined. During this excursion the former president will be entertained by the governors of the Lado Enclave and Mongalla provinces. Plans are being made to give him an enthusiastic reception. Onagalla is being decorated with flags and the Belgian officers at Lado have made a giant American flag which will be flying high when the guest arrives. A dinner for Mr. Roosevelt's party will be given by the governor of Mongalla.

Theodore Roosevelt telegraphs that he will arrive in Berlin on May 10. The authorities of Berlin University are arranging to give him a warm reception. Emperor William also has indicated his intention to entertain Mr. Roosevelt.

BAKERSFIELD, Feb. 26.—A gang of armed men this morning seized a quarter section of oil land in section 25, township 22, range 23 in the Midway oil field, and at once erected ten drilling rigs thereon. The land was originally located by the Midway Oil Company and leased to the Union Oil Company. It is said to be worth a quarter of a million dollars.

Will Submit Proposition to Oakland, Berkeley, Alameda

WILLIAM S. TEVIS, president of the Bay Cities Water Company, and who offers to sell water by the wholesale to Alameda county.

Pendleton Says Tevis Has Money and Water

By B. H. PENDLETON
President of the Oakland City Council

It is true that Mr. Tevis of the Bay Cities Water Company has called on me for weeks and months past, and together we have talked this matter over. I have given the project the greatest possible consideration and thought during this time, but the details and minor, yet important points, of the proposition have not been discussed.

In my judgment a statement from me at this time, a statement which would give publicity to this matter, would not be advisable, but would rather be detrimental to the successful outcome of the plan. I have not as yet decided whether I will bring the matter officially before the city council next Monday night.

Pertaining to Mr. Tevis' ability to handle this proposition I would say that his financial backing as regards his own fortune, and the financial interests behind him, is unquestioned.

The people of Oakland could feel assured that into this plan Mr. Tevis can bring financial backing, experience gained through his presidency of other water companies, and a reputation of incorruptible character.

One other point I would emphasize, and that is, Mr. Tevis has the water.

Alamedan Sentenced For Rifling Mails

Caught in Paris After a Chase Around the World, Caspar Cohn Gets Five Years.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 26.—Five years at hard labor in the military prison at Fort Leavenworth was the sentence passed by Judge De Haven this morning upon Caspar Cohn, who was cracked around the world and captured in Paris for rifling the mails in this city.
Cohn, who lives in Alameda, was formerly a clerk at the ferry station-post office and was a trusted employee of the government for ten years. Three years ago he left here and it was found that for years he had been systematically robbing the mails.

PRESIDENT OF PEOPLES WATER COMPANY SAYS OFFER MAY BE BLUFF

Negotiations by Tevis to Purchase Local Corporation for $12,000,000 Stop When Demand Is Made for $17,000,000

TEVIS INTERESTS ARE SAID TO BE BACKED BY W. H. CROCKER

President Pendleton of the Oakland City Council Declares Tevis Has Both the Money and Water

PREDICT THAT TEVIS-CROCKER SYNDICATE WILL SECURE THE PEOPLES WATER COMPANY

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 26.—The prediction is made by several bankers and brokers today that the result of the present water controversy in Oakland will be that the People's Water Company will be acquired by the Tevis and Crocker interests.

The Bay Cities Water Company, through its president, William S. Tevis, has again signified its intention to enter the east bay shore cities with a competitive water supply system.

Six years ago Mr. Tevis made a proposition to the city of Oakland to furnish it with a twenty-million-gallon daily supply of water from the catchment watershed of Arroyo Valle and Santa Ysabel creeks with the impounding, delivery and distributing plant for $8,700,000, which was voted upon at a bond election held March 11, 1905, and defeated by a vote of 5207 against and 4369 for.

Tevis' partial proposition to the city of Alameda is similar to the plan offered to the city of Oakland and rejected at the polls in 1905.

Tevis Submits Partial Offer in Writing

Accompanied by W. H. Taylor of the Taylor Lumber Company, a stockholder of the Bay Cities Water Company, and Representative Hanford, Tevis visited Mayor Noy yesterday and submitted the proposition in part which was reduced to writing and referred by the Mayor to the City Council last evening, which was in turn referred to the public utilities committee.

Tevis denies that his purpose in making the offer to Alameda is to in any way embarrass the Peoples Water Company.

On the other hand, Frank A. Leach, the president of the Peoples Water Company, declares that Mr. Tevis' proposition to Alameda looks very much like "a bluff," following the failure of the negotiations Wednesday evening or Thursday morning when Tevis' effort to secure a controlling interest of the Peoples Water Company from the Havens' interests "fell through," and the parties to the negotiations, which had been pending for some time past, "agreed to disagree."

In making the proposition to Alameda Tevis denies that it is the same kind of a proposition as was submitted six years ago to Oakland, and while refusing to disclose the source of supply from which the service is to be made, claims that the Bay Cities Water Company controls the sources of supply capable of developing 200,000,000 gallons of water daily.

He, moreover, disclaims any intention of entering the San Francisco field, confining his operations entirely to the cities on this side of the bay.

Negotiations With Peoples Broken

Negotiations between Tevis and the Peoples Water Company by which Tevis sought to purchase the local corporation were broken off last Wednesday after months of discussion of terms.

It is reported that Tevis offered $12,000,000 for the Peoples Water Company, while that corporation held out for $17,000,000.

The bonded debt of the water company outstanding is $12,591,000; floating debt $1,500,000. At $77.25 the bonded debt represents a market value of $9,698,243. Adding the $1,500,000 floating indebtedness the market value of the outstanding obligations would aggregate $11,198,243, leaving only $800,000 for the stockholders out of the $12,000,000 Tevis is said to have offered as the full price of the plant—provided, the floating debt be paid dollar for dollar.

The preferred stock of the company is $2,000,000 and the common stock is $18,000,000.

Bonds of the Peoples Water Company are selling between $85 and $87 on the San Francisco Stock Exchange. They opened at $85 this morning and the last sale was quoted at $77.25.

B. H. Pendleton, president of the Oakland City Council, says that for months past he and Tevis have been discussing the pro-

TEVIS DENIES DESIRE TO DRIVE OUT COMPETITION

MAYOR NOY IS IN FAVOR OF THOROUGH INQUIRY

Believes Time Now Ripe for City to Consider the Proposition.

QUALITY AND QUANTITY OF GREAT IMPORTANCE

Alameda Executive Tells of His Meeting With W. S. Tevis.

(By W. H. NOY, Mayor of Alameda).

Mr. Tevis called on me in my office in the city hall yesterday and presented a proposition to me to supply the city of Alameda with water. He asked me to bring the matter before the city council with a view to having his water supply considered officially.

I think that the time is now ripe for the city officials of Alameda to consider the proposition of a new supply of water. I told Mr. Tevis that the provision for a water supply for the future was one of the most difficult to solve, as the population of Alameda was increasing so rapidly.

Of Great Importance.

The quality and quantity of the water is of great importance to the consumers, and now is the time to dwell upon these considerations.

I told Mr. Tevis that I would gladly bring the matter before the city council which met in committee session last night, and that his proposition would be taken up officially Tuesday night.

I am greatly in favor of investigating the source of the water supply and the terms that will be presented to the city by Mr. Tevis in a week's time.

He stated yesterday that he did not care to divulge the location of the supply as yet, but would present a statement to the city with all data and terms the latter part of next week.

To Make Statement.

If the city decides to accept his proposition, he offers to install a municipal plant and allow the city to sell the water to consumers, but if the city prefers, the Bay Cities Water Company will manage the plant and sell the supply.

I am not in favor of the city expending a lot of money on a plant if we can get a supply of water provided by a company at economical rates.

He told me yesterday that he would submit a statement of terms to the city in a week.

We don't want to be found sleeping at the switch, so I have recommended to the city council that this supply and proposition of Tevis be carefully investigated.

Look to Future.

Colonel E. B. Bullock, president of the finance committee of the city council, is now adjusting matters with the Peoples Water Company, but what the outcome of this will be I cannot say.

We must look to the future for a good water supply in order to insure the health of the community and lower insurance rates.

With the electrifying of the Southern Pacific electric system and the many improvements that are being made in the city, the population will increase materially, and the people will want good water.

It is time that Alameda had a good, pure supply of mountain water.

Tevis Submits Plan to Mayor of Alameda

W. S. Tevis yesterday afternoon called on Mayor Noy of Alameda, and to him made the following statement:

We wish to ascertain whether the Council will enter into a contract to take water from our company at prices to be decided upon, and in what quantity.

We will have to know if a contract made by the city for water is binding legally and also if the charter will permit of such a contract.

Also, if the city would consider a proposition of buying outright a distributing system from us, and then buy the water from our company and distribute it itself, but we will not expend the money unless we are assured of customers.

Opportunity for City of Alameda

It is an opportunity for the City of Alameda to get a thoroughly adequate and satisfactory supply. I will state that where the water comes from is almost without population, there being but 31 human beings within a radius of 500 square miles. All of these can be removed at any time. At the present time they are tenants of ours.

The water has been examined repeatedly and has been tried, and is very desirable for domestic purposes. A portion of the water is hard, but not enough to make it undesirable.

Water Desirable for Domestic Purposes

I wish to make a contract with the City of Alameda to furnish the entire municipality with water, and then make a house-to-house canvass and make contracts with the individual residents, to furnish water at a price satisfactory to the council, give them a thoroughly adequate and satisfactory supply service.

I want to know if the city would want us to put in a plant for them, pay for it ourselves, and let the city pay exactly what it costs us, and then afterwards handle the distributing part of it as a municipal concern and let us furnish the water to the city at a price agreeable to all at so much per million gallons, or whether they prefer to have us make it a private concern, in competition with the present company.

CITIZENS VOTED AGAINST BONDS FIVE YEARS AGO

Effort to Obtain Water Supply of 20,000,000 Gallons Daily Defeated By a Big Margin

On March 11, 1905, an election was held on the proposition to bond the city in the sum of $5,700,000 for a system of water supply of 20,000,000 gallons daily to be provided by the Bay Cities Water Company.

Three million and seven hundred and fifty thousand dollars of this amount covered the cost of reservoirs, reservoir sites, lands and easements at the headwaters of the Arroyo Valle and Santa Ysabel creeks, in Santa Clara county, both of which streams drain Mount Hamilton, and whose combined watersheds cover from 100 to 125 square miles, and pipe line to the city boundary.

The remaining $1,950,000 is applied to the construction of a distributing system. The total vote cast at the election was 9566.

Necessary to carry the bonds, 6378.

Votes cast for the proposition, 4539.

Votes cast against, 5207.

ELOPMENT ENDS IN DIVORCE COURT

Romance Is Shattered by the Blows of the Young Husband.

Charlotte C. Ward has been granted a final decree of divorce in the Superior Court from John T. Ward on the ground of extreme cruelty, together with the permanent custody of their minor child and $20 a month for his support and maintenance.

The couple were married at San Rafael in 1906, at which time Mrs. Ward was 16 years of age. Ward's brutal treatment of her began almost immediately after the marriage and continued until October, 1907, when he left his wife, telling her that his mother had guaranteed to give him $5000 if he would cut her out of her and that he was going to accept the offer.

This divorce is the culmination of an elopement. After their marriage the Wards lived in Berkeley most of the time until their separation, when the wife went back to the home of her mother, Nancy E. Leonard of 1012 Seventh street.

Poison Oak Almost Causes Blindness

A severe case of poison oak was treated yesterday afternoon at the Receiving Hospital, when Joe Ponella, a laborer, reported to Steward Travers with a face so badly inflamed that he could hardly see and which looked like a round, full moon, of a brilliant scarlet color. Ponella, who has just returned from work in the hills, was found wandering about near Fourteenth and Washington streets by a policeman, who sent him to the hospital, when he complained that he was going blind. He was treated and later was able to leave the place.

Boy Runs Away; May Be Going to Seattle

Herbert Sperry, residing with his mother, Mrs. Charles Sperry, of 255 Forty-sixth street, ran away last night, according to the report made by Mrs. Sperry to the police this morning, and a search is now being made for him in neighboring towns. His mother, however, suspects that the boy has gone to Seattle, as he threatened to do so on several occasions, and the police of that city have been notified by wire of his affair. Trouble with his mother is believed by the police to be responsible for the runaway.

YOUTH RUNS AWAY TO SEEK FORTUNE

Herbert Sperry Packs Up and Sets Out to Make His Own Way.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 26.—Determined to run away from home and seek his fortune in a city far away, where none of his relatives could communicate with him, Herbert Sperry, 15 years old, the son of C. E. Sperry, of 2410 Dwight Way, Berkeley, ran away from home yesterday. He disappeared about 2:30 p. m., but it was not until late in the evening that the father noted that he had packed up all his clothing and valuables, and evidently made ready for a long journey.

It is believed that he intends going to Seattle, and the police of this city are watching today's outgoing steamers for him. He is described as five feet four inches tall, weighing 130 pounds, and when he left the house was sitting in a light coat, gray trousers, green overcoat, and light crush hat.

Eleven New Lights About Observatory

About the ground of the Chabot Observatory building have been placed eleven new electric lights by the Board of Public Works. They are of the same design as those along the thoroughfares of the city except that they have four arms with pendant lights surmounted by the large globe. The lights are all controlled by a switch placed in the instrument room of the observatory and may be turned off and on at the will of the observer when they interfere with the observations by reflecting too strong a light from below.

Jewels Are Stolen By Clever Burglars

While the owner was spending the afternoon, and evening away from home, burglars entered the room of Mrs. J. E. Stevens, a boarder at 475 Ninth street, removing several pieces of small jewelry as well as a few articles of clothing. The loss amounted to about $25. Mrs. Stevens is not in her room until 10 o'clock last night, and the burglars may have been committed between this time and about 10 o'clock in the afternoon yesterday. Entrance to the room was effected by means of a pass key. The police have been notified and are investigating.

STANDS READY TO PROVIDE WHOLESALE SUPPLY

Bay Cities Has No Intention to Furnish Water to San Francisco.

PROPOSES TO SELL TO EASTERN SHORE CITIES

C. E. Gilman to Manage the Alameda County Offices, Says Company.

The Bay Cities Water Company of San Francisco stands ready to supply any amount of water desired by any or all of the cities of Alameda county, on the wholesale plan, at figures which have not yet been quoted.

For ten years the wealthy backers behind this concern have been acquiring sources of water supply in numbers of counties in the state, and the time has come, according to the officials, to take advantage of their system, and to begin the actual business of selling water.

President W. S. Tevis has already communicated directly with the mayors of Alameda and Berkeley, and indirectly with the city council of Oakland with a view of securing contracts for the wholesale delivery of water at the edge of the several municipalities.

The company's holdings control a supply of 200,000,000 gallons of water per day, and they are anxious to begin operations.

Wait for Contracts.

They do not intend, however, to construct a plant and begin to compete with concerns already in the field, but rather to wait until they have signed contracts for at least 10,000,000 gallons per day before they start constructing.

Chief Engineer Edwin Duryea, who has had charge of the Tevis interests for years, is absent from the state, but his chief assistant, C. E. Gilman, who will be manager of the Alameda county offices, this morning stated that as soon as the contracts were signed work would begin, which would bring in the water supply in eighteen months or less.

Not for San Francisco.

The company has no intention whatever of breaking into the San Francisco field, say its officials.

Its properties are more conveniently located for the piping of water to Oakland and its environs, and the view of the officials of the concern is that the enormous increase in population which has characterized the last few years will be as nothing compared to the influx of people who will settle on the eastern shores of San Francisco bay during the four or five years to come.

President William S. Tevis is exceedingly optimistic of the situation, and Col. E. G. Wheeler, secretary of the water company, believes that the concern has solved the problem of an adequate water supply.

None Are Sufficient.

"No cities in the world," said Colonel Wheeler today, "has a sufficient or adequate supply of water. They prepare themselves for a certain population, but when they arrange for a larger supply the people have already increased. The population is increasing right here, and the amount of water is inadequate. In Chicago they have only to tunnel into the lake, and yet they are forced to keep it up all the time enlarging their plant. In Paris and London they need more water."

Guard Against Mistakes.

"If you receive contracts for only 10,000,000 gallons you will build a plant the capacity of which is larger than that, will you not," he was asked.

"We most certainly will; we won't make any mistake like that. We have been watching every angle of the water business, and when we come in we intend to do it right."

JAP WOMAN ON U. S. PAYROLL.

FRESNO, Feb. 26.—Mrs. Tishima, wife of the local manager of the Japanese Bank, is the first and only woman of her nation who draws salary from Uncle Sam. She has been appointed postmistress of No. 1 post office station.

Statement Made by Engineer for Tevis

By C. E. GILMAN

Assistant Chief Engineer for Tevis Interests

Mr. Tevis has decided to go into the business of supplying water. The Bay Cities Water Company will come to Oakland and will establish a system to supply that city, Berkeley, Alameda and the adjacent communities in Alameda county.

The plans for development of the Coast Range watersheds owned by Mr. Tevis will be perfected and the company has the capital with which to go ahead as fast as conservative business methods demand.

Another Proposition Entirely, He Says

This is not the same proposition that was offered to the people of Oakland several years ago. At that time we offered 20,000,000 gallons. Our development now will reach 75,000,000 gallons a day, and will be drawn from an uninhabited section of the Coast range, pure, undeveloped and unpolluted. We can develop 200,000,000 gallons daily. The other project was only a small portion of the quantity of water which the Bay Cities Water Company owns.

This decision has been reached because of the heavy growth of population in Oakland and contiguous territory, and the constantly increasing need of developing new sources of supply. It has been based upon a business proposition.

Confidence in Market for Water

We believe that there is a good market for our water and we are going to sell it upon the belief that we can offer a larger quantity and a better quality of goods than any competitor. It is upon this basis that we shall do business.

We want it to be understood that this is a clean-cut project, untarnished by politics, and is here to stick.

FRANK LEACH BELIEVES TEVIS OFFER IS BLUFF

President of Peoples Water Company Says Bay Cities May Have Trouble in Getting Its Supply

Frank A. Leach, president of the Peoples Water Company, in an interview this morning, said:

"I know nothing about the negotiations which have been carried on by Mr. Tevis regarding the possible transfer of the Peoples Water Company's properties to him. The negotiations with Tevis have been conducted entirely by the Havens. Not being a stockholder in the company, I have not been consulted in the premises and don't know what form the negotiations took."

"These negotiations, as I understand them, have been pending for some time, but I have been informed that either on Wednesday evening or Thursday morning Tevis and the Havens suddenly agreed to disagree."

"Your suggestion that Mr. Tevis offer to furnish the city of Alameda with a water supply and the opening of negotiations with Mayor Noy and the city council so quickly after the breaking off of the dicker with the Havens may be a bluff on the part of Tevis is, in my judgment, a correct sizing up of the situation."

"Where Mr. Tevis is going to get his water supply and how he intends to bring it to the east bay shore cities I don't know. Whatever may be his plans of water supply development it seems to me that he will encounter the opposition of the Spring Valley Water Company, for I am under the impression that that corporation has some kind of a claim on the Mount Hamilton watershed, which is likely to be in direct conflict with his claims of that region as a source of water supply."

Mrs. Claude F. Day Is Granted Her Divorce

RENO, Nev., Feb. 26.—Mrs. Hazel Turner Day, whose husband in May, 1909, sued her mother for $1,000,000 for alienating her affections, was granted a divorce this morning.

The husband, Claude F. Day, whose father is the head of the Day manufacturing company of New Jersey, did not contest the suit. No alimony was asked. Mrs. Day's father, Charles H. Turner, a wealthy lumber dealer of New York, was a witness for his daughter.

Mrs. Day was given the custody of her 5-year-old daughter, with the provision that the father may see her at reasonable times.

Turner, with his daughter and her child, left tonight for Los Angeles, and will return to New York within a few days. It is reported that Mrs. Day will marry a wealthy San Franciscan.

COMPANY WILL NOT TRY TO CUT WATER RATES

Will Build a Distributing Plant if Necessary and Sell it to the City.

PROPERTIES OF ENORMOUS VALUE ACCUMULATED

Lawsuit Has Prevented Line From Entering San Jose Thus Far.

The officers of the Bay Cities Water Company are Vice-president, Clinton E. Worren, a retired capitalist; Col. E. G. Wheeler, secretary, and Edwin Duryea, chief engineer. The company was organized in 1900 for the purpose of acquiring valuable water bearings and producing properties all over the State, and for ten years has been engaged in getting these properties together. They are of enormous value, and the arrangements whereby the water can be piped to this most populous portion of the State have been carefully figured out and planned by experts.

Wholesale Water.

From the statements of President Tevis it can be seen that the company is entering the field determined to utilize the water power that is theirs and to endeavor to supply the demand which must come with the increased population, which they feel sure is going to settle on the Alameda county shores.

While their idea is principally the wholesaling of water, they have indicated that they will build the distributing system, if necessary, and deliver it right to the consumer. They will then agree to sell these plants to the city, so that they can be operated municipally, or will conduct them themselves.

Litigation Bars.

The company is engaged in litigation now in Santa Clara county over their efforts to put through a pipe line in the neighborhood of San Jose. The legal obstacles were raised, according to President Tevis, because the people in that section believed that the supply was intended for San Francisco. This he avers, however, was not the case, but the company really intended to compete for the supply of water to the Garden City itself. The legal complications did fair to be solved soon and it is stated on fairly good authority that San Jose may be the first of the California cities to be served by the new company.

Not to be Rival.

There are two things that stand out clearly in connection with this new move of the Bay Cities Water Company, and which its officers desire particularly to be impressed upon the public, who must finally decide whether or not they are to secure the desired contracts.

First, their interest around the bay is entirely on the Alameda side, and they claim to have no intention whatever to offer themselves as a rival to the Hetch Hetchy or the Spring Valley Company here. Second, they declare positively that they are not going to cut rates or rival in any manner the concern now operating in Oakland, Alameda and Berkeley, but wish to supplement the water supply, and if they can secure contracts which will warrant their building a pipe line they intend to break in and supply their water to those consumers and those only who sign contracts.

PROMISES TO HAVE MANY SOURCES OF SUPPLY

BERKELEY IS ANXIOUS TO GET LOWER RATES

Mayor Says That No Formal Proposition Has Been Made to City.

PRESENT CHARGES HAVE AROUSED MANY PROTESTS

University City Pays More for Water Than Does Alameda.

(By BEVERLY HODGEHEAD, Mayor of Berkeley.)

As Berkeley has not as yet been formally approached by Tevis or by the Bay Cities Water Company, any expression of opinion concerning a proposition to be made by that company to include Berkeley in its plan to supply the bay cities with water would be premature at this time.

Berkeley is anxious to have a part in any system offering a good water supply at the lowest rates, and would be glad to co-operate with other cities, Oakland and Alameda, in obtaining this. It would seem that a healthy competition would help in obtaining the lowest rates and the best service.

It is strange, in my opinion, that the cities in the rainy belt of the state, where there is a generous downpour of water, should find it more difficult to obtain a water supply system with low rates than cities in the more arid and dry belts. San Diego pays less for its water than the cities around the bay, and the precipitation is considerably less.

Want Lower Rate.

The city council of Berkeley has under consideration at the present time petitions, or rather communications, from two or three improvement clubs, asking that the rates for water in Berkeley be lowered. Some of these communications are rather drastic in their demands, making covert threats, while others are in the form of requests that the matter be thoroughly investigated.

We hope to give our best attention to the latter, and have already undertaken an investigation of the present rates charged in Berkeley by the Peoples Water Company. We have been working to obtain information and to accumulate data for the past month. Monday we expect to take testimony, and have notified the Peoples Water Company officials that we will expect to make an inspection of their plant some day next week.

The matter which has been most insistently brought to our attention is that of the minimum rate. In Alameda the minimum rate is $1, while in Berkeley it is $1.50. The purpose of our investigation will be to estimate whether the water company is receiving more than a reasonable rate on its investment of money.

Council Careful.

The city council intends to make a thorough investigation before reaching any conclusion. A careful inspection will be made of the plant, and we will examine the receipts and expenditures of the company with regard to its operations in Berkeley.

The claim is made by the officials that the difference in the rates charged here and in Alameda is governed by the added cost of supplying Berkeley due to the amount of pumping necessitated. For Alameda the company is forced to pump from the Alvarado wells at the Twenty-fourth street pumping station only once to raise the water to the reservoir to supply that city. After leaving there it has to be pumped again two or

Tevis Says He Is Prepared To Furnish Water Wholesale

By WILLIAM S. TEVIS, President of Bay Cities Water Company

We are possessed of a very valuable property with an ultimate capacity which can be developed to probably 200,000,000 gallons of water per day. We have been acquiring these properties for the past ten years and have an abundant supply. The question now is with us to secure contracts for the distributing of some of this water. We propose to first get these contracts from municipalities, and from individuals who are large consumers.

Just as soon as we get contracts for sufficient gallons of water per day to justify the building of pipe lines we will be ready to supply our water at a reasonable rate to Oakland, Alameda, Berkeley or any other point. We have no intention, however, of coming into the San Francisco side of the bay.

Says Supply Will Be Inadequate

Our properties are naturally tributary to the Alameda county shores. We do not want to be misunderstood, and are making no attacks on the going concern. We realize that the population in Alameda county is growing at a tremendous rate, and will grow more during the next four or five years. The water supply will naturally be inadequate for this enormous increase.

We understand that in the municipality across the bay there is a scarcity. For that reason we have undertaken a campaign to secure contracts. We have not yet definitely determined how much of a supply we must arrange for before commencing to build our plant, but I will say that we will not put in our pipe line until we have signed up the necessary amount.

More Contracts, Less the Price

The more we contract for the less the price will be, therefore it is desirable to secure contracts for a very large amount of water. We would like to get contracts for at least 20,000,000 gallons per day, but we will be willing to do business, and to commence operations on much less than that.

I want to impress upon the people, however, more than anything else, that we do not desire to interfere with the vested interests or compete with the going concern. We understand that more water is necessary, and we are ready to furnish it.

We propose to offer our supply to the various cities on the eastern side of the bay, and I have already seen Mayor W. H. Noy of Alameda, who received me very graciously, and who undertook to explain my proposition to the Council.

In fact, everywhere I have gone I have been well and enthusiastically received. Mr. Pendleton, president of the Oakland City Council, has agreed to take the matter up with the Oakland Council, and I am to see Mayor Beverly Hodgehead of Berkeley today.

Ready to Build the Pipe Lines

We are ready to build our pipe line to the city limits of any municipality, and then let the city distribute the supply and charge whatever rates they see fit. In other words, we will furnish the water on the wholesale plan. If they prefer it, we will build the distributing system and will then sell it to the city at the cost of construction, plus the contractor's profit, laying the books open upon the table so that the price may be determined by all those concerned.

The situation is, in a word, this: We have the water, we have the money to supply, and what we are after now is the fellow to use it. I am advised—I do not know of my own knowledge—that the water conditions on the eastern shore of the bay are very bad. I don't like to do anything that will appear to be an injury to a going concern, or a vested interest, but we have a property enormously valuable, a property acquired after many years, and we are going to supply water from it, and if it happens to work an injury it will not be our fault. We are not a competing concern, and we do not intend to come in and cut prices or any other sort.

MANY SOURCES OF SUPPLY PORTEND SUCCESS

Tevis Says He Can Bring Water From at Least Eight Different Places.

PIPES CAN REACH HERE IN EIGHTEEN MONTHS

Engineers Have Been Working on Project for Years and Scheme Is Complete.

President Tevis was asked as to the exact place from which the water would be brought, and his answer was characteristic of his views on the success of the enterprise in which he has been engaged for a decade.

"I can't tell you from where we will bring the water, because I don't know. If our contract calls for 10,000,000 we will bring it from one place, if for 15,000,000 from another. If, again, it should be 30,000,000, we would have to use still another, and if it reached 75,000,000 gallons we might combine two.

"Our experience has taught us that we must face litigation, and I will say that if we are legally tangled up in our attempts to bring water from one place we will merely start our operations at a second, and if our hands are tied in seven places, I am glad to be able to say that we have an eighth from which we can work."

Will Sell in Bulk.

The water company proposes to sell its water in bulk, 10,000,000 gallons or more, and will deliver it on the borders of the municipalities and allow of its being retailed by the community. By this arrangement a city may have municipal ownership, buying its supply, however, at a low figure and retailing it as cheap as possible to the consumer.

President Tevis declared today that he had been figuring out what it would cost the consumer, and had reached a remarkably low price. He did not desire, however, to make public the amount that he thought the water could be furnished for, but declared that the figures had even surpassed himself.

Can Supply Soon.

Engineers of the water company have been working on the plan of furnishing a supply to Alameda county for years, and are prepared to say that within the short space of eighteen months the water could be piped to the city limits of any of the three large municipalities.

Assistant Engineer Gilman in speaking of the matter said: "I think we could do it in eighteen months or less. If we used electric lights and put on a night shift we might be able to get away below those figures. We are all prepared to go ahead, and when the contracts are signed we can start work."

Mr. Gilman is to have charge permanently of the Oakland office of the Bay Cities Water Company, which will handle the business of Alameda county. He has been with the concern almost ever since it started, and has gone over the plans with Chief Engineer Duryea.

STATEMENT IS MADE BY PEOPLES WATER COMPANY

Wickham Havens, Vice-President, Declares Corporation Has Abundant Water for Years to Come

Wickham Havens, vice-president of the Peoples Water Company, today made the following statement to THE TRIBUNE:

This company has abundant water for a great many years in the future. The best way to get at this is that at the present time Lake Chabot is fully equal to Oakland's requirements.

The impression that was conveyed some time ago that there was immediate need for further storage was due to the fact that a very large amount of water was wasted by the consumers and this a still true to quite an extent, but very much less than a year ago.

When a meter is placed in a house immediately the waste is stopped to such an extent that such waste will take care of another house.

A few months ago considerable agitation existed in the city over the increase caused by the use of meters. This information was widely disseminated through the newspapers, and its effect has been to make consumers more careful in the use of water. Probably the amount used for the coming year will very little exceed the amount used in 1909.

From this statement it is quite evident that it is unnecessary to bring water from any other location for many years to come.

This whole question of water supply for Oakland is purely economic

Plans to Build Dam Above Lake Chabot.

The Peoples Water Company will, at the proper time, build a dam above Lake Chabot that will retain three times the amount of water held by Lake Chabot. The expense in this case will be simply for the building of a dam, as no pipe will be required other than the outlet under the dam.

The San Pablo dam, capacity equal to that of Lake Chabot (with further reservoir possibilities above), will probably be the first undertaking to add to the present storage, for the reason that it is on a different watershed and will be uniformly filled each season.

The rainfall is greater in this watershed than in that of the San Leandro. To bring this water to the consumers will require three miles of pipe to connect with the present main which is now laid from San Pablo to Berkeley, and these three miles of pipe are now on hand, stored in the company's yard. Hence the cost of doubling, trebling or quadrupling the present supply is practically the cost of building dams, which cost would occur to any company bringing water into Oakland. The additional cost would be entirely in favor of the local company, so that the matter would appear to be: The cost of bringing the water from the reservoirs to the city of Oakland.

In the case of the Hetch-Hetchy, this question has been so fully exploited in the newspapers that the readers of your papers are no doubt familiar with the same.

Says Water Will Be Finest and Purest.

As to the quality of the water: Whether the water falls on the summits of the Sierras in the form of snow, or whether it falls in the canyons back of Mt. Hamilton or in the mountains of the Coast Range east of Oakland in the form of rain, no chemical difference whatever exists. The land in the form of rain, no chemical difference whatever exists. The change that takes place making soft water hard is due wholly to mineral matter taken in solution by water percolating underground, and in the case of the Sierras it is well known that the water is hard. I know nothing of such conditions in the Mt. Hamilton region, but I do know that the Lake Chabot water is soft and that the process of forestry that is now going on will result in the Peoples Water Company furnishing to the people of Greater Oakland the finest and purest water in existence.

CANDIDATES' AFFIDAVITS MAY BE FOUND INVALID

Those Circulating Petitions for Places on Ballots at Primary Election Alarmed by New Interpretation of Law

Candidates who are circulating petitions for places on the ballots to be cast at the primary election in August were thrown into consternation this morning when it was noted that the validity of the affidavits their verification deputies were securing was in question. In view of the fact that the city of Oakland must be redivided into wards and election districts, resignations of the ward and precinct of the signers of nomination affidavits have been left blank by the verification deputies to be filled in by them after the city council has redivided the municipality.

This, it is argued by the attorneys who have been giving the matter thought, is in violation of the new governing the making of affidavits. The law strictly prohibits the altering or interpolation of any sworn affidavit, and the claim is therefore made that all nomination papers which fail to show a complete affidavit in every respect are worthless as election documents. With the ward and precinct left blank to a candidate, it is also incomplete and attorneys say that this is another reason for raising serious doubt as to the validity of the papers.

When seen this morning regarding the matter District Attorney Donahue said that he had been giving it thoughtful consideration and was prepared to say that candidates who were accepting the incomplete verification affidavits were doing it at their own risk. Another phase of the canvass for petitions that is stirring up considerable strife is whether or not candidates are allowed under the Direct Primary Election law to secure signatures of voters in excess of the number authorized by the measure. Some contend that a candidate to go beyond the number is illegal and unfair while others hold that the law does not prohibit for a limited canvass. The law simply says that any candidate voted for must have at least three percent of the party vote within the district in which the officer is to be voted for, and in the aggregate not more than three per cent more than ten per cent of the total vote of the party in such district.

"I am giving this phase of the primary law consideration," said District Attorney Donahue, "but it appears to me there is nothing to prevent candidates from securing as many affidavits as they choose. That appears to be their own affair, but they cannot file more than ten per cent of the vote."

posed new source of water supply. Pendleton says that the financial backing of Tevis is unquestionable, and also that he has the water.

Pendleton says he has not yet decided whether he will bring the matter officially before the City Council next Monday night.

Mayor Mott, when interviewed, said that he knew nothing of the matter and referred the interviewer to Councilman Pendleton.

Mayor Noy of Alameda says he is greatly in favor of investigating the partial offer made by Mr. Tevis. Mayor Noy says that Tevis has informed him that he would submit a statement of terms to the Alameda Council in a week.

Mayor Hodgehead of Berkeley says that his city would gladly welcome any proposition which would mean a good supply of water at a lower rate.

Mayor Mott Has Nothing to Say

Mayor Mott when seen by a TRIBUNE reporter today made the following statement:

"I know nothing about any proposition being made by Tevis to this city and I do not know of anyone who does. I believe, however, that B. H. Pendleton, president of the Council, knows something of the matter, as he should on account of his position. I can not positively state that he does, however, as nothing has been said to me regarding the proposition by anyone. Whether anyone has been in consultation with the Tevis water interests or who has, I do not know. It is, therefore, impossible for me to say anything on the subject."

Mayor Hodgehead of Berkeley was interviewed at noon by President Tevis of the Bay Cities Water Company, and the whole project for the supply of water for the university town was outlined to him. He was favorably impressed by the explanation and proposal on the part of the water company, and declared that three times more to get it to the Berkeley reservoirs.

Sprinkling High.

We find that while the minimum rate to the consumer is lower in Alameda, the city is charged a higher rate for water for street sprinkling, and in this Berkeley seems to be fortunate. We pay 15 cents for 1000 gallons for our street sprinkling, while Alameda pays 30 cents for 1000 gallons. The whole matter of minimum rates appears to be one of making an adjustment, and that we intend to do during the coming month.

The right to die up the streets and install a distributing system is given the companies by the state constitution, and does not rest in the hands of the local authorities. We have at present under consideration an ordinance to regulate the water companies in this matter, so that they may not disturb our streets without our knowing it.

From what I have heard I expect to be approached by the Bay Cities people, and this city would welcome any proposition that would mean a good supply of water at a lower rate.

PROFESSORS WIN FIGHT FOR LAND

Jury Decides Dr. Mouser Must Not Sell Property Now "Squatted" On.

A busy place this morning was Justice of the Peace Quinn's court. Several cases were laid over, three marriage ceremonies marked and the trial of the damage suit brought by Dr. Benj. T. Mouser against the three Berkeley professors for the recovery of property upon which they had squatted, continued, the case going to the jury at noon. They were out about 20 minutes and returned with a verdict in favor of the defendants, Lincoln Hutchinson, F. C. Torrey, C. H. Kiebler and A. W. Whitney. As the case now stands the doctor is restrained from disposing of the property and the professors may rest for the time being, assured that there will be no objectionable edifice erected upon the strip of land over which the controversy is waged.

Dr. Mouser, the plaintiff, states that he will carry the case into the Superior Court where he will fight it to a finish. In the afternoon adjoining the court, three couples anxiously awaited the attention of Judge Quinn and in the interior of the jury's retirement for deliberation and Foreman James Ute's rendering of the verdict, the genial justice tied in rapid succession three good hard matrimonial knots, and three happy couples went their way through the grinning crowd in the new ivory hall.

They were Andrew G. Colwood of Bay Point and Neta Deota of Oakland; Frank M. Kenny of San Francisco and Sarah P. Wentworth; Pearl C. Hall of Greenfield, Iowa, and Louise L. Hall of San Francisco.

Diamond Solitaire Rings Taken From the Home of H. B. Mills.

BERKELEY, Feb. 26.—An burglar entered the residence of H. B. Mills, 3083 Regent street yesterday afternoon while the family was away, using a pass key to effect entrance by the rear door. Several rings, among them two solitaire diamonds valued at $200, and a large amount of jewelry, were taken.

This is the third burglary of the kind that has been successfully put through in Berkeley in the past week, and the police believe it to be the work of a professional sneak thief. The burglars were ransacked, bureaus and chiffoniers being torn open and the contents cast about on the floor.

PACKERS WILL BE HUNTED BY DEPUTY SHERIFFS

Prosecutor Garven Declares Indicted Magnates Must Come to Court.

OTHERWISE HE DEMANDS
ARRESTS TO FOLLOW

Motion Made to Nullify Charter of Offending Trust Concern.

NEW YORK, Feb. 25. — A motion to nullify the charter of the National Packing Co., one of the corporations indicted yesterday for conspiracy to raise the price of meat by the Hudson county New Jersey grand jury will be made next by Prosecutor Garven of Jersey City.

"I will wait a week or ten days before I suggest capias and give the men under indictment a chance to put in a voluntary appearance. If they fail to come into the State or answer the charges by that time, I will have capias issued and give them into the hands of sheriff's who will hunt up the indicted individuals in Chicago or wherever they may be. Then the law's machinery will be put in motion to bring them to New Jersey."

The fact developed today that meat investigation and the indictment which followed had so far cost the New Jersey county of Hudson, where the proceedings have been conducted the net sum of only forty cents. This is approximately the value of the stationery used by the district attorney's office and the grand jury.

EGGS CORNERED.

Prosecutor Garven will appear before Supreme Court Justice Swazey in Trenton, N. J., next week and ask that the National Packing Company's charter be nullified on the ground that the company has violated the state's laws.

L. C. Krauthoff, local counsel of Armour & Company, said he would not discuss the indictments.

Prosecutor Garven said he was led into starting the investigation by reading an item that eggs were selling at 50 to 60 cents in New York. He commented on this to a workingman who had been employed in the packing houses and told him that thousands and thousands of dozens of eggs were in the Jersey City cold storage warehouses being withheld from the depleted market. He said he considered this all wrong and started the cold storage probe which finally led him deep into the meat investigation.

Freshman Co-Eds Win Exciting Race On Lake Merritt; Juniors Second

Snapshot of the finish of the U. C. co-eds' boat race on Lake Merritt this morning. Winning boat and crew in the foreground.

A large crowd of college enthusiasts lined the shore of Lake Merritt at 10 o'clock this morning to witness the intercollegiate regatta of the women of the University of California, one of the features of the woman's day program which had been postponed from Tuesday.

The lake was a sparkling sheet of blue, the sunshine dancing upon the ripples, reflected the trim lines of the racing craft with their gaily attired fair occupants. Pennants and class colors were flung here and there among the gathering at the boathouse from which the four crews departed to the starting point at the head of the lake attended by water craft of every description from the white winged yacht to the motor boat and small canoe.

Much time had been devoted in training for the event and the fair oarsmen were keenly alert in anticipation of the contest. The start was made at just 10:45 and the time over the three-quarter mile course was made in 5-14 minutes by the winning freshman crew composed of Vincenta Moorhead stroke, Harriet Robinson, bow and Irma Kendrick, coxswain. They crossed the line at the finish near the club house two lengths ahead of the juniors. The seniors ran third while the sophomores had to content themselves with bringing up the rear.

The judges at the finish were Miss

Pauline Baldwin, graduate; Mrs. E. F. Myers and Professor Ligda.

The other crews were as follows:
Senior—Claudia Seidl stroke, Nellie Goddell bow, Mabel Pittman, coxswain.
Junior—Helen Pritchett stroke, Hazel James, bow, Hazel Laguerre, coxswain.
Sophomore—Ida DeJannette stroke, Grace Hamilton, bow, Laura Robson, coxswain.

The remainder of the woman's day program took place this afternoon on the campus at Berkeley. It consisted of fencing matches and the freshman-sophomore basketball game. A tennis match between Miss Hazel Hotchkins and Miss Golda Meyers of San Francisco was held on the Haight Hall courts.

Dropped.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 25. — C. A. Conlin, alias H. S. Daniels, known here as Claude Alexander "Astro," who was shot in Okolona, Arkansas, yesterday by Deputy Sheriff Hayes, while resisting arrest, will not be brought to this city to be charged with embezzlement.

"Astro," after a jail delivery at Hot Springs, in which sixteen other prisoners escaped, fled and was captured on a freight train by the sheriff's posse. In running for cover he was shot, and it may be, fatally injured. Detective Sergeant Redmond who was sent east for him, has been instructed to return without the prisoner, and the prosecution here will be dropped.

"Astro" conducted a clairvoyant agency and it is claimed induced a tow boat captain, named O'Kelly, out of $515 with the aid of a young woman.

Thief Steals Auto Fittings on Street

A clever thief Thursday night systematically "worked" several automobiles standing on the streets of the city, removing small accessories and brass work from the machines, according to reports received by the police. The first case to be reported was that of Dr. Dudley Smith, who reported that while the machine driven by him was standing in front of the Forum Cafe a tire, kept in the auto for emergencies, was taken from the front of the machine. R. L. Garter of 1009 Broadway later reported the loss of a Prestolite gas tank, used for forcing lamps, from his machine as it stood on the street, and also a number of small tools. The second land stores are being watched in the hope of locating some of the loot.

ROGERS GIVES LIE TO HENEY CHARGE

Los Angeles Attorney Hints at Dire Disclosures to Come.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 26. — "It is an absolute lie," declared Attorney Earl Rogers, counsel for Patrick J. Henehy, when told that some of the cryptograms referring to the San Francisco graft prosecution had been traced to his office in Los Angeles.

"If Henehy or any one else says that I am involved in any way with the authorship of these cryptograms he is making a false and baseless statement," continued Rogers.

"I think the facts in this case will be developed before long. Let them do their talking now if they like. I can do mine when the proper time comes."

"Regarding the charge said to have been made in the north that the typewriting of the original cryptograms is identical with that of machines in my office, that has been investigated. A reporter came to my office and made a comparison of the typewriting, and was satisfied that the machines were different, there being no similarity."

On the suggestion that the cryptograms were not of great importance, Rogers intimated that he considers them of the greatest importance, and hinted mysteriously at weighty disclosures that are to come.

CONFIRMS TITLE TO GIFT ESTATE

Made Reparation to Child His Horse Had Maimed in Face.

In 1872 a horse belonging to H. Dahlman kicked a little girl named Dora Helms in the face, inflicting an ugly wound and permanently marring her beauty. The Dahlman and Helms families were intimate friends and the calamity that befell the Helms girl so preyed upon Dahlman's mind that in 1884 he determined to make reparation for the act of his horse and gave the child's mother a piece of property near San Lorenzo valued at $2000. He made no formal deed, simply handing over to her the deed he held with a notation thereon conveying the property to Mrs. Helms. Dahlman died in 1907 and the executor of his estate, J. P. DeFord, brought suit in the Superior Court to quiet the title to the property. Mrs. Helms defended her claim and this forenoon Judge Harris handed down a decision holding that the deed she held entitled her to the property.

Saunders Is Found Guilty of Arson

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 26. — A verdict of guilty of arson in the first degree was returned by the jury in Judge Cabanis' court that tried Thomas Elliott Saunders, accused of having fired St. Luke's hospital early the morning of November 18, 1909. A recommendation of mercy was attached to the verdict. The extreme penalty for arson in the first degree is fifty years' imprisonment.

The defense was that the fire was an accident, and that there was no testimony to connect Saunders with it. Saunders did not testify in his own defense. Notice of appeal was given by Saunders' attorney. Sentence will be imposed Tuesday.

Accused Murderer Released on Bonds

Chin Tung, awaiting trial in the Superior Court for the alleged murder of Yee Gee in a lodging house at Sixth and Market streets on November 2, 1909, during the time he was released from the County Jail this forenoon by Judge Ogden on $10,000 bonds. The sureties are Chin Lian, a Chinese capitalist of San Francisco, and Charles T. Rodolph, cashier of the Union Savings Bank of Oakland.

Restful Sleep Restored: Grippe Cured

MRS. ALBERT MATHEWS.

"Am no friend of drinking, but I was completely cured of Grippe and Stomach Trouble by the use of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey and I feel like a different person. It brought back restful sleep and health," writes Mrs. Mathews.

"I do not believe in the abuse of whiskey and am no friend of drinking, but the value of a pure medicinal whiskey has been clearly demonstrated and, taken in small doses, it certainly is a wonderful help to weak, miserable sufferers. Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is the purest liquor I have ever seen. I shall speak in its praise to everyone who needs it. I am so glad to be of help to others who suffer."

"Last winter I had a very bad spell of La Grippe, and tried every remedy I could hear of. My stomach was so weak I had to vomit every day and I would wake up in the night so sick and weak. Nothing seemed to give me relief. At last I saw your advertisement and my husband ordered some of your Malt Whiskey for me and it worked like a charm. I began to eat better and sleep better and the sickness at my stomach has all passed away. I feel like a new person. I have given some of it to my neighbors and they are pleased with its purity and with the actual good they have received. Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is all that you claim for it and I will not be without it. It certainly is the most valuable remedy I have found."—Mrs. Albert Mathews, P. O. Box 35, Colfax, Wis.

The testimony showed that Lyons was drunk at the time. Patrick McArthur, the burglar, who has a record of previous convictions, got twenty-five years.

FOR SALE

Here is a little gem!

A veritable dream of a home.

Almost a fairy palace, by long odds, the daintiest, most artistic, truly original and quaintly arranged little place WE ever saw.

Did we say "little?"

It's hardly that, for there are four bedrooms and bath and toilet upstairs, a big reception hall down stairs, a gorgeously beautiful drawing-room and a glorious dining-room with buffet kitchen, butler's pantry, laundry, etc., upon the ground floor.

But it's so exceedingly artistic, so dainty and so beautifully and ideally arranged that it doesn't look as large as it really is.

It's an inspiration to write about it.

But it's a hopeless task to try to describe it.

For instance, the dining-room is a miniature reproduction of the white and gold dining-room of the St. Francis—the bedrooms are paneled in the most beautiful effects of modern times.

Of course the floors down stairs are all hard wood and the windows are plate glass and the chandeliers and fixtures in perfect keeping with the balance of the architecture.

It was built under the personal supervision of a gentleman who has just completed a $30,000 residence for himself. He built this house more to satisfy a whim than anything else. He is a genius in planning new ideas and a true artist in combining them.

There is nothing like it in Oakland.

You must see it tomorrow.

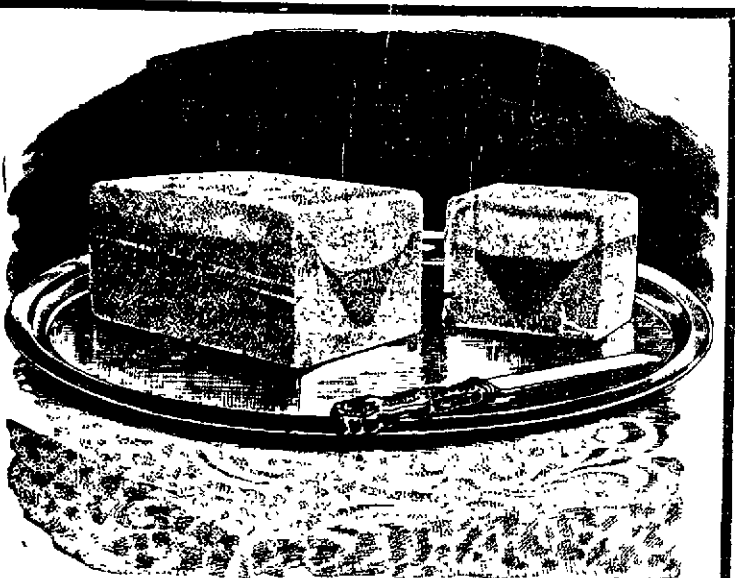

HOW TO GET THERE.

It is located in Grand Avenue Heights upon the main boulevard and enjoys a magnificent view of Lake Merritt. This view can never be cut off. To reach the property take the Grand Avenue cars on Fourteenth street and get off at Perkins street. Walk down the main wide boulevard and after about three blocks' walk you'll see the house on the eastern or right hand side of the boulevard. Take the picture along so you'll recognize it.

Or if you prefer call at our office any time tomorrow and we will take you out in the auto.

Price $8500 on almost any terms you desire.

Lehnhardt's "Prize Dessert" The Headliner of an All-Star Cast

Read This Advertisement

We are banking on the weather—figuring that it will be fine and bright tomorrow—an ideal day for our desserts.

And, as a result of our prophecy, are going to make one of the greatest desserts we ever made in all our history.

We have been holding it back for good weather for weeks because we did not care to offer a "masterpiece" at an inopportune time.

Those who have tasted it say that it beats "Delmonico Ice Cream," and that means a great deal.

It certainly is wonderfully fine, and any woman who does not take advantage of the situation and serve this dessert tomorrow is making a big mistake.

The crowning glory of the brick is a layer of pure Vermont Maple Syrup Ice Cream, the most delicious morsel of frozen dainties ever set before an epicure.

Another layer is composed of an ice made out of pure pineapple juice obtained by compressing selected Hawaiian pineapples.

The third layer is Vanilla Ice Cream.

You'll all agree that the combination sets a new record. We've never been able to equal it before, and question whether we'll ever succeed in finding anything quite as good in the future.

Be SURE to get it.

50c for a quart brick if you call at the store.

80c for a quart brick if we deliver it to your home.

Heney's Singular Admissions.

The discussion caused by the publication of the mysterious cryptic correspondence relating to the Ruff and Calhoun trials carried on in the "personal" column of the Examiner during the year 1908 is bringing to light some strange facts. The coherence, intelligence and accurate knowledge evinced in the cryptograms clearly prove that they were not inserted by a crank, and the elaborate precautions taken to prevent the identity of the authors being disclosed prove with equal clearness that the correspondence was neither the work of jokers nor experimentalists in cryptography. Heney says the cryptograms were the concoction of Earl Rogers and Luther Brown of Patrick Calhoun's legal staff, but he offers not a shadow of proof to substantiate his assertion, and the cryptograms themselves give him flat denial.

It will be remembered that the agents and organs of the graft prosecution charged Calhoun with instigating the strike on the United Railroads, and with doing other things that were plainly the work of Burns and his motley crew. But the charge that Calhoun conspired to have a strike declared on his own railroads is not more absurd than Heney's assertion that Calhoun conspired with his subordinates to pack the jury against himself.

However, Heney has brought up another matter that demands close attention—particularly so, when we recall the circumstances of James L. Gallagher's departure from San Francisco on the eve of the day set for Calhoun's trial and his sudden flight shortly after the election in San Francisco. That is the case of the Claudianos brothers who were arrested for dynamiting the house of Gallagher in this city. Heney asks a number of questions relating to the Claudianos case which carry a false impression of the facts. He asks:

"Who induced Pete Claudianos to waive the statutory time for the passing of sentence after the jury had convicted him of the dynamiting of Gallagher's home, and why? His lawyer must have known that the sentence would be life imprisonment. Did Pete Claudianos think that San Quentin was so much more comfortable than the Alameda county jail that he wanted to get there immediately? What promises were made to him and by whom were they made? What sort of treatment is he getting in San Quentin? Is Tirey L. Ford still a prison director, and does he look after Pete's comfort?"

Peter Claudianos was convicted solely on the strength of an alleged confession made, not to the court or to the Alameda county officers of the law, but to Burns. Furthermore, Burns furnished the circumstantial corroboration of the story that he said Claudianos told him. In effect, Burns swore Claudianos into prison for life.

The lawyer who appeared for Claudianos at the trial was not Nat C. Coghlin, but a young man named Scott, who said he was employed by the Greek Consulate to represent Claudianos. Scott practically made no defense for his client.

After continued postponements William H. Langdon, then District Attorney of San Francisco, moved to dismiss the case against John Claudianos, the District Attorney of this county having refused to take the responsibility off his shoulders, and Judge Frick, attorney for Claudianos, having declined to move for a dismissal.

We learn now from Heney that John Claudianos left the State the day after being released. That fact has not been published and was not generally known till Heney mentioned it. Why, we may ask, was the case against John Claudianos dismissed on motion of Langdon? How came Heney to be so familiar with his subsequent movements? It is also pertinent to inquire what agencies induced the Greek Consulate to employ Scott ostensibly to defend Peter Claudianos but apparently to let his defense go by default?

The graft prosecution, or rather the San Francisco Bulletin, first found John Claudianos and first gave him money and it was Langdon that set him at liberty. Well may it be asked, who gave him the money to go away on. And why was he sent away?

A thorough investigation of the Claudianos case and all the incidents leading up to his arrest and conviction, together with the dynamiting of Gallagher's house and Burns' dealings with Macey and Wilhelm would throw an interesting light on many dark places. It might answer Heney's questions in a manner far from satisfactory to himself and his confederates.

Philadelphia ought to change her name. With rioting going on in every street she cannot longer claim to be the city of brotherly love.

William J. Burns comes forward with the novel theory that the mysterious cryptographic communications which appeared in the "personal" ad columns of the Examiner during the graft trials were the work of Earl Rogers, one of the attorneys for the defendants in the trolley cases. It is singular, however, that these communications ceased the moment the Examiner people acquainted Burns with the fact that the cipher had been worked out by a watchmaker in Oakland. It is hard, moreover, to reconcile his theory with certain other significant facts. The cryptograms show that the persons who sent and received the messages knew that two of the passed jurors in the Calhoun case were biased against the defendant. If Calhoun's attorney knew them to be prejudiced, as the messages show, why were the men not got rid of by peremptory challenge? Would Burns have the public believe that Calhoun's attorneys were conspiring in secret to have him convicted? Presently we shall be told that Calhoun instigated the raid on his own offices.

A saloon porter in Coalinga killed a restaurant waiter for calling him a "swamper." The pride that impels a man to be a murderer in preference to a "swamper" can only be properly appreciated by a hangman and a rope.

"Fighting Bob" Evans expresses the fear that the railroads will control the Panama canal after it is completed, or rather monopolize the ships plying between American ports that pass through. It is a rather remote danger that perturbs his soul. Anybody can use the canal on the same terms, and freight rates cannot be put up by collusion without calling vessels of all kinds into a competition for the trade. However, if the great maritime cities of the Atlantic and Pacific Coasts sit down supinely and allow the railway corporations to nullify, so far as domestic traffic is concerned, the purpose for which the canal is being constructed they will deserve to be subjected. But there is little cause for apprehension in Admiral Evans' bogie man. Since "Fighting Bob" took to battling with his pen in the cheap magazines he has been "seeing things" more or less terrible in every quarter of the compass. Perhaps his fears are expressed merely to help sell copy, and are not indicative of real panic. However, they are not creating widespread alarm.

Punishment In China

A case of severe punishment was meted out to one Ng Ah-dah, who is at present confined in the City Magistrate's Yamen. Ng is alleged to have been illegally arrested in the Settlement, and in consequence of consular intervention got 2000 blows with the bamboo on December 16, and a similar punishment on the 18th.

On December 31 the City Magistrate received an official request for the unfortunate man's release from the Mixed Court Magistrate, and it is now stated that he at once had Ng Ah-dah brought before him again, and after telling him that he had warned him what would be the result of any further interference by the Settlement authorities, ordered him to receive another 2000 blows.

The punishment was begun then and there, but the prisoner fainted after receiving 900 blows and was removed to his cell. It is stated that the wretched man is in a terrible condition, his bones being actually exposed owing to the barbarous punishment inflicted upon him. In less than three weeks he has had 4990 blows—although corporal punishment has been abolished in the Settlement at the request of the Chinese authorities—simply because efforts have been made through legitimate channels to obtain his release.—North China Daily News.

The real estate alone was valued at more than a million dollars. The court decided that Hannah Jones Adams was to get an undivided half interest in the estate. The remainder was distributed equally between Edison

A purse of $2,500 was part of the celebration planned in honor of the Rev. Father King for his twenty-five years service as a priest. The exercises at St. Mary's continued for a day and a night and were joined in by church societies and prominent people of the city. Archbishop Riordan presided at the high mass and all of the prominent clergy were in attendance. In discussing his long work Father King told of Oakland as he saw only a sparsely settled district around Seventh street and of a trip he had to make when he had to walk from Oakland to Alameda. Also of the early days of the convent he founded built away in the woods, and that he and Mr. Valdez themselves built a road from Telegraph avenue to the property.

A MODEL REBUKE

(From the Kansas City Star.)

It seems fitting to call special attention of the speech there was prolongation to a little incident in the United States Senate yesterday. A resolution was under consideration to authorize the United States troops stationed at Mobile, Ala., to furnish tents for the ex-confederate encampment soon to be held in that city. Senator Heyburn, of Idaho seized the opportunity to denounce the South, to picture the horrors of the civil war and to score the state of Virginia for placing the statue of Gen. Robert E. Lee in the national park. During the hour devoted to this delectable occupation the senate maintained an attitude of disgust and reluctant toleration. At the conclusion of the speech there was prolongation to a little incident in the United States Senate yesterday.

This incident is of value because it shows on the one hand how utterly out of place it has become, through the processes of national unity and welfare and justice, to recall, in this way, the events of the civil war, and on the other that the South no longer feels the need of formal reply to such attacks if any one is foolish enough to make them. The pulse of the southern senators was admirable and the rebuke of the whole body was a model.

Prices and Discontent

While the prices of foodstuffs and other necessities of life are at figures which warrant all sorts of complaints against them, the fact will not dawn that the people of this country are difficult to please. As Myron T. Herrick, former governor of Ohio, points out when similar prices in 1896 were exceedingly low, averaging just about half what they are now, everybody insisted that the country was going to the dogs because of them. And the self same argument is being made now because the prices are so high. In this, as in all other things, it seems to be impossible to strike a happy medium.—Topeka, Kan., State Journal.

How to Have Prosperous-Looking Interiors

Rooms—like people—have an individuality of their own—a certain "character" by which they are judged. A cheerful, prosperous-looking room gives a cheerful and prosperous feeling to those who occupy it. And the secret of cheerfulness and that "prosperous air" in interiors is largely a matter of woodwork that looks bright and new.

Buswell's Stains and Finishes

They transform the dreariest rooms into beautiful interiors. Battered wainscoting, scratched baseboards and old floors take on an attractive freshness, and your furniture, vases, lawn seats, etc., can be finished to match or in contrast. And don't forget the carriages, implements barns, etc., about the place. Our name on every can is a positive assurance that the product will "make good". They last long and look well as long as they last, leaving a surface in good condition to receive a new finish—not cracking or losing tone as inferior finishes do. Refuses to Support Wife and Children

After reflecting to every means and device that she could think of to compel her husband to support her and their children, Margaret Weller of 801 University avenue, West Berkeley, applied to the Superior Court for a divorce from John Weller, a carpenter, and yesterday Superior Judge Pillsbury granted an interlocutory decree to her to take with the custody and control of the four minor children and $50 as alimony and for the maintenance and support of the mother.

Despite the fact that Weller worked constantly at his trade and for good wages, his wife testified he could not be induced to provide for his family. He tried to neglect them and save his money. Incompatibility of temper aggravated by his wife's morbid and jealous nature, finally drove Frank A. Wesson of 1615 14th street into the divorce court and this morning Superior Judge Pillsbury granted an interlocutory decree to him from Bettie E. Wesson on the ground of extreme cruelty.

GERMS IN HER SYSTEM

Every Woman Should Read This Advice and the Generous Offering That Goes With It.

The number of diseases peculiar to women is such that we believe this space would hardly contain a mere mention of their names and it is a fact that most of these diseases are of a curable nature. A woman cannot be well if there is a trace of catarrh in her system. Some women think there is no help for them. But positively declare this to be a mistaken idea. We are so sure of this that we offer to supply medicine absolutely free of all cost in every instance where it falls to give satisfaction, or does not substantiate our claims. With this understanding, no woman should hesitate to believe our honest purpose or hesitate to put our claims to a test.

There is only one way to overcome catarrh. That way is through the blood. You must get all the spurs, poisons or impurities from your system without getting into the temporary relief of a cathartic. In general, it is a condition of the system that shows locally most frequently in discharges from mucous membranes. Local treatment should be assisted by internal treatment for the general diseased condition. If a complete cure is to be reached, that internal treatment should be administered. Rectal Mucosa Tonic is scientifically prepared from the prescription of an eminent physician who for thirty years made it his specialty. This remedy is not a cathartic, but it is the most powerful of the curative agents of women. It purifies and enriches the blood, tends to stop mucous discharges, aids in removing impurities from the system, soothes, heals and strengthens the mucous tissues and brings about a feeling of health and strength.

We want you to try Rectal Mucosa Tonic on our guarantee. If you are not better in 10 days, or for any reason not satisfied, we will refund your money. Write to us and we will send you a box of Rectal Mucosa Tonic. It is sold in all drug stores. Write to us for a box of Rectal Mucosa Tonic. It is sold in all drug stores. YOUNG HUSH LOSES CASE AGAINST MOTHER

Judge Ogden Decides That Grandson's Money Was Not Withheld.

YOUNG MAN'S WIFE COMMENTS IN COURT

Her Remarks Cause Judge to Order Bailiff to Keep Order.

Just before the Superior Court closed last evening Judge Ogden terminated the case of William W. Hush against his mother, Florence Hush, widow of the late Valentine Hush, a capitalist, a decision that defendant had not withheld $1000 from her son, alleged to have been given into her keeping by his grandfather. Hush had instituted the suit against his mother a year before, claiming that in his early infancy W. W. Woods his maternal grandfather had given his mother the thousand dollars to keep for him until he reached his majority.

A letter written by Woods transmitting $100 to young Hush was put in evidence at the trial and Mrs. Hush testified that this was the amount of a check her son referred to in his complaint to simply having multiplied the correct sum by ten.

The mother told the court that she had expended the money in the care of her son and that there never was any understanding between her and her son that the money was a trust fund.

SISTER TESTIFIES

Mrs. William McGee, a sister of the plaintiff testified in behalf of her mother. She said that she never had heard the subject of a trust fund for the benefit of her brother discussed by either Hush or her mother or by any other member of the family. The first she knew of any such proposition was when Hush instituted his suit.

During the trial of the case, which began about 9 o'clock, Mrs. William Hush whose marriage caused the estrangement in the family, became so excited that she made some audible comments in the court room affecting the veracity of her mother in law and sister-in-law on the witness stand and declared that she cared nothing for the money involved if she could prevent Hush's people from having him away from her. Judge Ogden found her so much annoyed at her remarks that he ordered his bailiff to preserve order in the room. The young Mrs. Hush rose from her seat in high indignation and flounced out into the corridor where she remained until the trial ended.

SON'S CHARGE

Hush's suit against his mother was the culmination of a series of sensational episodes in the family. They began when the father married, without consulting the wishes of his parents and the latter cast him adrift. Then he disappeared and when his young wife in 1901 him in the East he told a strange story of having been kidnapped by his relatives, dragged and rushed away on a train while under the influence of the narcotic. Returning to Oakland he rejoined his wife and thereafter the family lived in peace until the father died. Then the mother began to quarrel with her son and when the latter was married she opened it disclosed the fact that the son was disinherited.

Young Wife Secures Divorce From Spouse

Daphne G. Isgrigg has secured an interlocutory decree of divorce in the Superior Court from Francis J. Isgrigg on the ground of desertion. She is only 21 years of age and had been married to Isgrigg, who is a bookkeeper by occupation since 1907. After living with his wife for six months Isgrigg went to the city of New York and never returned. Since then Mrs. Isgrigg has been living with her mother Mrs. Grace F. Betts of Berkeley at whose home Isgrigg was married to his wife. According to the mother Isgrigg never properly provided for her daughter while they lived together as husband and wife. Mrs. Betts being compelled to pay a number of bills to keep him and her daughter from being thrown into the street by lunatic neighbors.

Wieland's at home

Could you inspect every department of our brewery and witness every process in the making of Wieland's Beer; look into all the intricate machinery of the biggest bottling plant in the West—the most modern in the world; peer into every nook and corner and examine every detail for cleanliness, you would marvel at the organization that keeps such an immense plant so spotlessly clean. If then you would enter our store-rooms and note the quantity and quality of the plump, ripe barley malt and hops used in the making of

if you would submit the water used in the brewing to a chemical analysis; if you would witness the care and attention of experts in every period of manufacture and aging, if finally you could follow each bottle through the various stages of cleansing—nine different washings—note the scientific method of pasteurizing, you would then be fully convinced that the beer that bears the "Wieland" label is the peer of any and most fit to be your HOME BEER.

M'NAB WILL NOT ENTER RACE FOR GOVERNORSHIP
Agrees With Gillett to Throw His Support to the Cause of Alden Anderson for Standard Bearer

John T. McNab, whom the politicians have been figuring upon as a possible candidate for governor on the Republican ticket declines to enter the race. This decision was made after a conference with Governor Gillett at the Fairmont at which the situation was gone over and it was decided that the best policy to pursue was to concentrate their efforts towards the support of Alden Anderson.

McNab outlines a high record for the bank superintendent and announced several weeks ago that he would not contest the primaries if Anderson was a candidate. Mendocino county will have one of its sons on the primary ballot however. McNab's withdrawal leaves the way clear for Frank L. Gaughes, clerk of the Supreme Court to become a candidate for re-nomination.

PINCHOT SAYS BALLINGER IS GUILTY OF DISLOYALTY

harmony with the forest expert who reported the Cunningham coal lands worthless as a commercial proposition. The witness estimated the amount of coal available in the Cunningham group at ninety million tons. The Alaska coal, he declared, was as good as any he had ever seen. The profit to the mine owners he had estimated at from twenty-five to fifty cents a ton, a not very high estimate of from $25,000,000 to $15,000,000. Mr. Kennedy said his estimates were rough ones for he had not gone thoroughly into the question of values in dollars and cents. The Alaska fields were the richest that he had ever seen. Mr. Kennedy was questioned in detail by members of the committee as to the location of the claims with reference to the coast, possible harbors, etc.

CHARGES DISLOYALTY.

"I will show you that this letter was submitted by the President to Mr. Ballinger and that as part of his reply he laid before the President a statement concerning the Cunningham coal cases, which statement is shown by undisputed documentary evidence to be absolutely false in three essential particulars. It will then appear that Mr. Ballinger willfully deceived the President and was disloyal to him. The third principal matter is concerned with the attitude of this government in law and administrative practice toward the conservation of the natural resources belonging to the people. "I desire to show you that the story of Glavin's courageous and successful fight to protect the property of the people, which ended in his dismissal without a hearing, is but a single chapter in the history of the public lands. I shall show you that under our present law and practice the more difficult task falls on those who would protect the public property and not on those who would despoil it, and that under the present system the betrayal into monopolistic control belongs to all of us is made easy and often in practice inevitable.

URGES BALLINGER'S REMOVAL.

"The imperative duty of this country is merely not to get rid of an unfaithful public servant. Another important duty is to bring about a fundamental change in the law and the practice toward con-

Redmen Join in Feast and Enjoyable Program

SPEECHES MADE BY THE HIGH CHIEFS

One of the Most Notable Gatherings in the History of the Order.

From the first words of welcome by Sachem Dan W. Pratt until the last strains of "Auld Lang Syne" had died away, the feast gathering of Redmen in the Bohemian room of Pabst Cafe last night was a continuous round of good-fellowship.

The banquet was tendered by the chief and warriors of the Uteas Tribe No. 137, of this city to the brethren of the Manzanita Tribe No. 4, of San Francisco. Pontiac Tribe No. 190 was also represented in the circle.

Seventy officers were laid on the appropriately decorated board and the environments were particularly adapted to just such a war spread. At the open end of the great U-shaped table stood draped upon its pedestal the bust of an ancient war chief. Toasts were drunk and yells reverberated through the hall, interspersed with the music from the orchestra.

BANQUET MENU.

The affair was arranged by M. A. Schaffer, chief of records, and Dan W. Pratt, sachem of the Uteas. The menu was as follows:

Token points on the half shell
Celery Salted Almonds Olives
Consomme Italiane
Roast chicken with dressing
Garden peas Pommes Chateau
Combination salad
Queen fritters, brandy sauce,
Cafe Noir.

The program was a unique folder on the front of which was a scene including an Indian in his birch bark, while beyond midst the pines on the shore was the wigwam and the campfire brightly burning. Following the address of welcome by Dr. H. B. Meiermann, was a reply by J. J. Bryan of the Manzanitas. It was a great pleasure for his tribe to be present, as the two had always been closely allied. "Tonight," said he, "conviviality is the theme and sociability the subject, and we accept the hospitality of our pale face brethren in the spirit in which it is tendered."

CALDWELL'S ADDRESS.

Bliss Jackson of the Uteas rendered several piano selections while good stories went the rounds. Wm. R. Twamley and Robert Black, both of Manzanita, delivered addresses. The feature of the evening was the address by H. H. Caldwell on the "Berillon and Thump-print Identification Systems." The utmost interest in his talk was evinced by all present and many were the queries put to him, which he answered wittily and to the point.

Bedrock Is Tested For Dock's Foundation

Tests made of the bedrock in the Oakland estuary show it to be of sufficient strength to support the foundations for the wharves which are to be built by the city in accordance with the plans and by means of the fund provided in the recent bond issue.

The city engineer has sunk a shaft in the estuary at the foot of Grove street. At a depth of thirteen feet bedrock of a persistent nature was encountered. This continued to a depth of twenty-five feet, when work was abandoned as satisfactory. In connection with this shaft, a series of smaller shafts were bored, and also showed a condition which the city engineer finds to be suitable to the needs of the city in wharf building.

MOTHER OF MRS. SPEAR DIES OF HEART FAILURE

Came Here From France 50 Years Ago and Leaves Many Friends to Mourn Her Loss

Mrs. Eugenia Chartrand, wife of Louis Chartrand and mother of Mrs. Charles Spear of Berkeley, died at her home, 637 Fifty-eighth street, last evening, of heart failure. Mrs. Chartrand was 67 years old. Mrs. Chartrand, as Miss Eugenia Ruchez, was born in Paris, France, in 1843. She came to this country when she was 14 years of age and settled on this coast immediately, where she a few years later married Louis Chartrand, who survives her.

Mrs. Chartrand had five children, all girls, one of whom, Mrs. Henry C. Perry, recently died. The surviving children are Mrs. Charles H. Spear of Berkeley, Mrs. C. M. Johnson of Berkeley, Mrs. M. R. Johnston of Berkeley and Mrs. A. E. Gore of San Francisco.

The funeral will be held from the family residence at 9 o'clock Monday morning. The service will be in charge of Rev. Father Segala, and the interment will take place in St. Mary's cemetery.

A SAFEGUARD TO CHILDREN.
"Our two children of six and eight years have been since infancy subject to colds and croup. About three years ago I started to use Foley's Honey and Tar, and it has never failed to prevent and cure these troubles. It is the only medicine I can get the children to take without a row." HENEY FALSIFIED ASSERTS M'CARTHY

Mayor Denies Charges and Has a Few Remarks to Make.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 26. — When Mr. Heney says that I have any sort of an alliance with the United Railroads, he says what he knows is not so, and says it with that knowledge. — Mayor P. H. McCarthy.
Mayor McCarthy returned to this city yesterday from Los Angeles, where he has been absent since Monday attending ceremonies in connection with the dedication of the Labor Temple in that city. He had read on the train statements made by Francis J. Heney, charging him with being an enemy of the Geary street railroad and with being a party to an "unholy alliance with Patrick Calhoun."
Mayor McCarthy did not take kindly to the strictures of Heney.
"Mr. Heney must think the people of this city still have him in mind," said the Mayor. "I hardly think it worth while talking about him except for the publicity given his remarks. The people have passed on Heney and said that they want none of him. That is the best reply."

ALLIANCE IS WITH PEOPLE.

"When Mr. Heney says, however, that I have any sort of an alliance with Patrick Calhoun or the United Railroads, he makes a statement that he knows is not true, makes it knowing that he is expressing a thing that is a lie."
"The only alliance that P. H. McCarthy is a party to is between him and the people. And any falsehood that is disseminated by Heney about me cannot hurt me, or destroy my usefulness to the city, the people or myself. I shall proceed to do the right thing and moreover I shall see that Mr. Heney does the right thing by the people. I am just big enough to be Mayor of all the people, including Mr. Heney."

Architect Confers On New City Hall

At a conference between John Galen Howard, the well-known Berkeley architect, and the Oakland Board of Public Works this morning, the competition of plans for the new city hall and the details of floor space for the offices were discussed.

Howard stated that he would submit the terms of the competition in March and specifications detailing the needs of the various buildings and offices are now being prepared by the heads of departments.

One of the details considered was an emergency hospital for the city jail.

NE can safely trust the small boy to be the first to discover spring. He can tell you where the pussy willows are beginning to push out the first faint buds, and he knows, as if by instinct, when the first faint, shy green begins to creep over the long slender branches of the willow trees. It is the spring of life for the small boy, and so he understands Nature's springtime in the great world.

And it might be said of the small boy that he has a curious way of establishing seasons of his own. Apparently, without any warning, it will be top time, and every boy is spinning a top, with a dexterity wonderful to behold. The announcement that "it is marble time" is a source of anguish to many a mother's heart, for well she knows that nothing but stockings of cast-iron will be proof against the game. Again it is hockey, and fierce battles are fought with hockey sticks, a special providence protecting the life and limb of even the most venturesome.

One expects in football time to see the small boy arrive, very much the worse for wear, reflecting all sorts of black and blue color schemes, with a few shades of sickly green thrown in, by way of variety. But it is spring that the small boy loves best, and there is a note of jubilation in the announcement "Kites is in." And what matter about a grammatical error more or less when the subject is so important?

There are all sorts of kites—the ones you may buy, which are very nice to look at, but which could never be as interesting as the great big kites, made with such infinite care and trouble at home. The busy housewife possesses her soul in patience—one the paste that bedews her floor and the wonderful combinations which result from the manufacture of the spring kite.

And the anxiety with which the small boy sends his kite into the air makes a study in itself. There is his disappointment when it comes promptly to grief on the nearest wire, the wreck telling its own story to the passer-by. And there is his joy when it sails proudly up into the blue sky, tugging madly at the string, which alone keeps it from exploring the upper ether.

The kite has had many uses in the past; it has been the basis of many experiments, but its most helpful message is that of the springtime which it heralds, for spring is here when "Kites are in."

After all, there are many kinds of kites which one sends out; there are the hopes of the springtime, the dawn of better days. The springtime hopes so gladly careering, and passing all danger lines they shine proudly on the far blue skyline of the future.

GARDENING IS NOW A REAL ART.

It is interesting in the springtime to note the gardens of one's friends, for gardening now has been rapidly advanced to the dignity of fine art, and most of our gardens tell an eloquent story of the personal care bestowed upon them. There is nothing that responds to care as does a garden, and many gardens have been planned in Oakland in a most systematic way. It is an early spring, and already the lovely acacia trees planted by the syndicate in our foothill roads are in bloom, filling the air with early spring fragrance. Gardening is studied in a much more interesting, sympathetic fashion than of old and some of our gardens bid fair in the future to be of historic interest.

The Frank C. Havens' gardens have the rare charm which comes from preserving as far as possible nature's original design. The grounds follow on one side the lines of the picturesque canyon, beautifully wooded, and great care has been taken to preserve all the shrubs and oaks that are nature's superb landmarks. Over the fine hill slopes are magnificent palms, for the big tropical palms should only be planted in a wide environment.

In the springtime the hill slopes in the beautiful Havens' gardens are ablaze with superb escholtzias, the splendid flaming California poppies. The loveliest grounds in all the countryside bid fair to be developed under the artistic direction of Mr. Frank C. Havens.

Piedmont reminds many travelers always of Naples, and the hill slopes back of that beautiful city, where have been developed some of the most artistic gardens in the world. Our own hill slopes will in time rival them, now that the wealth to develop them has come, and with it has come also the love for the beautiful in the outdoor world.

The Wickham Havens' garden reminds one of an Italian hill slope, the lovely walks winding through masses of rare blooms. One winds his way among the wonderful La France roses, the stunning geraniums, the great beds of iris, down to the lake, on which rests some of the most gorgeous water lilies on the coast. It is a garden admirably planned and very beautiful in its wilderness of bloom. One hears that the grounds around "Gray Gables," the artistic home of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Alexander, are to be developed in a wonderful way, making a picturesque color scheme on the upper hills of Piedmont.

The A. A. Moores' junior have a lovely garden, as have also the Harry Maxwells. The garden of the latter is small but much has been done in it, and the fence of rocks, overrun with lovely flowers, is picturesque to a degree.

Mrs. A. A. Moore has always loved her East Oakland garden, and the trees and palms now represent many years of growth.

Mrs. Wellman and her daughters have spent much time in the beautiful gardens that surround their family home in Fruitvale, and one of the most truly charming gardens in all the Fruitvale region is that of Mrs. E. B. Sanborn. Mrs. Sanborn personally directs the garden and many happy hours each summer are enjoyed by her friends, in the quaint, picturesque garden.

Mrs. Oristes Pierce has the finest collection of orchids on this side of the bay, and the La France roses of Level Lea, the Clay home in Fruitvale, are of wonderful beauty and fragrance.

The garden of the T. C. Coogans this year is famous for its daffodils, and the latter have been the care of Mrs. Coogan, and Miss May Coogan, whose fondness for their garden means, for their friends, many floral tributes in spring.

Mrs. Everts and Miss Floriane Brown spend much time in their garden, and they obtain a wonderful response to their labor of love.

Mrs. Rose Kales spends also a great deal of time with her flowers, and Mrs. Jack Roberts (Etta Everson) knows how to bring to perfection the most wonderful carnations.

For years Arbor Villa, the home of the F. M. Smiths, has represented a garden altogether lovely in many ways. It takes its name from the many arbors which add picturesque touches here and there in the spacious grounds, and among the sheltered hills one finds a wonderful floral development.

The great violet borders bloom earlier there than anywhere else, and in the late winter whole trees are bright with hundreds of camellias. The many paths are arranged with most picturesque effect, and with "Lilac Cottage," and the big surrounding orchard, it represents a country home that reminds one of the traditional homes in the heart of England.

Pergolas and sun dials are now added, with a fine artistic effect to many gardens, and the tendency is now to have less lawn and more paths and flowers in the newer gardens of these later days.

THE MISSES WHEELER ENTERTAIN.

The Misses Wheeler of Claremont entertained a number of friends Thursday at their home, the guests of honor being the Misses Lavalle of Montana. The affair was a very interesting one and was greatly enjoyed by those present. The Misses Lavalle are very popular in their home city, Butte, Mont. Among those present from Oakland were Mrs. Oscar Luning and Mrs. John F. Connors.

BRIDGE IS NOW NEAR ITS DEATH.

"Poor bridge! Its dying groans will soon be heard all over the land. In England, auction has actually routed it, not only from the most fashionable country houses, but even from the staid and sober Portland Club in London, a club which, up to a year or so ago, was the very fortress and stronghold of bridge. Auction now is played almost exclusively at the Portland, just as it is at the Bath, and at many other fashionable English clubs. In Boston auction has made great progress. In New York it is creeping into the social and card clubs slowly, but surely. How long will it be before our old friend bridge expires in the last ditch of its one-time seemingly impregnable fortress?"

In justice to bridge, we must add, in all fairness, that auction would be no sort of a game at all were it not built up on bridge, just as many an airy superstructure could not stand the blasts and floods but for the solidly built foundations on which it rests, and just as polo would not be half the game it is were it not for the joy of riding the ponies.

That is what one reads in a recent leading article devoted to a consideration of bridge. It is perfectly true, what one reads of the inroads of auction, for everywhere in Oakland the good players are now devoting much time to auction bridge. To be sure, it requires a system of bookkeeping to know just how you stand at the close of the game, but auction itself is not difficult to play after one has mastered the leading principles of bridge. The Monday afternoon club plays auction now, and it is the game that is played wherever a company of congenial friends set down to an afternoon at cards.

Auction enables you to find out to a certainty what is in the dummy hand, or what third hand holds, and sometimes it is just the suit one needs to complete a no-trump declaration. Consequently the scores in auction run much higher than they do in bridge. It is great fun bidding for the right to make the trump, and there is much more excitement than in the conservative floral game. In the latter if you declare the trump, you are pretty sure of making the odd trick anyway, but in auction you must usually make more than the odd, and it is wildly exciting at times when you try to do it.

Auction has come to stay, and some of our younger matrons are playing an exceedingly good game. And apropos of bridge, a bright writer said recently:

"It is possible for one to be a lady, even at the bridge table."

MISS CRAIG HOSTESS AT CARD GAME.

Bridge has offered the diversion at some of the delightfully informal affairs of the week. On Thursday afternoon Miss Jessie Craig was the popular hostess at an informal bridge afternoon, entertaining a group of well-known friends at her home in Piedmont. The Craig family home is one of the oldest in the Piedmont hills, and it has to its credit a long history of hospitable entertaining. The young girls who were Miss Craig's guests all play an exceedingly good game of bridge, so the afternoon was of more than the usual degree of interest.

Very few girls are as genuinely popular as Miss Jessie Craig, and the invitations to her home mean many pleasant afternoons for her friends. Among her guests on Thursday afternoon were:

Mrs. Maurice Walsh Miss Anita Thomson
Mrs. Hiram Hall Miss Rose Kales
Miss Jessie Reed Miss Evelyn Adams
Miss Helen Dornin Miss Carmen Sutton
Miss Clarissa Lohse

ENTERTAINED AT LINDA VISTA.

Mr. and Mrs. Irving Lundborg were hosts at an informal evening of bridge, entertaining their friends delightfully in their Linda Vista home. They share their home always in such a happy fashion that it means many good times for their friends. They have the most picturesque of summer homes near Los Gatos, where the week-end gatherings are much enjoyed by their friends and relatives.

MISS BECK IS VISITING THE DUNCANS.

Miss Edith Beck is spending some days at Los Gatos, where she is the guest of Mrs. Robert Duncan.

Mrs. Duncan is making her home for the present in Los Gatos, and she makes her Oakland friends very welcome there.

SAN JOSE WEEK END PARTY.

Mrs. Sanford Smith of San Jose entertained a jolly Saturday-to-Tuesday party, and her young guests were Miss Olive Smith, Miss Jane Morris, Edwin Smith, all of Oakland, and Lloyd Collier and Charles Boone of Berkeley.

PICTURES IN THE MEDDLER.

Miss Renee Kelley is a San Francisco girl, daughter of the Kelley family of bankers, who is soon to become the bride of Edgar Alexander Palmer of Alameda. She is a young woman of much charm, convent bred, and extremely popular.

Misses Janet and Pauline Painter are society girls of Alameda who are also popular in this city. They entertain frequently and are attendants at the exclusive dances. They will be the complimented guests at a dance to be given at the Claremont Country Club March 11 by their uncle, Dalton Harrison.

Mrs. Frederick Van Devender Stott is a charming and popular San Francisco matron who is frequently entertained by hostesses of this side of the bay. She is the daughter of Attorney General Thayer L. Ford.

LOLE FULLER WAS ALWAYS LOCAL FAVORITE.

Among Lole Fuller's earliest successes in the dancing line were those achieved in Oakland, where she found women, prominent in social ways, ready to give her the encouragement which she needed. Everybody dances now-a-days and one finds often daughters of prominent families on the amateur vaudeville stage. Miss Fuller was given a luncheon at Arbor Villa, to which fifty guests were invited, and the latter have always taken interest in Miss Fuller's success in Paris, and later in the East.

In those days very few people danced anywhere else but in a conventional ballroom, for vaudeville was only in a small beginning and Miss Fuller was a type of unusual interest. She is always planning something original, and among recent news notes one reads:

"Miss Lole Fuller is preparing to dazzle her audiences next spring with an entirely new kind of dance, to be called the 'dance of the hands.' As the name shows, the hands are to be the feature on which the attention of the spectators will be centered. Miss Fuller is especially fitted for such a feature, as she has beautiful hands, marvelously long, slim and shapely, despite the fact that she herself is distinctly plump, so much so, in fact, that her graceful lightness as a dancer is a surprise to all who see her. In describing her new dance Miss Fuller says: 'The motions are supposed to represent the movements of roller steel in all its forms.'"

RECEPTION BY PRESS CLUB TO BARONESS DE BAZUS.

Three large receptions represented dates of unusual interest, the "at homes" given this week by the Press Club, the Woman's Exchange and the Ebell Club.

The members of the Press Club entertained in honor of the Baroness de Bazus, better known to many people as Mrs. Frank Leslie.

The reception was given in the ball room of the Key Route Inn, which is far and away the most attractive of the hotel rooms of our city. It reminds one of a drawing room abroad, with its polished floors, its fine rugs and its wonderfully beautiful pictures. Oakland is very rich in pictures, through the generosity and artistic spirit of Mr. Frank Havens.

The ballroom was very charming in many ways, and its decorations seemed to express the spirit of the early springtime. Branches of acacia adorned the chandeliers, and the color scheme of yellow was carried out in spring jonquilla.

This special ballroom makes an admirable setting for a large tea or an elaborate reception.

The Baroness de Bazus (Mrs. Frank Leslie), is one of the remarkable women of modern times. She comes of a fine family of Huguenot ancestry, and her work has been along very remarkable lines. Of course it is a matter of history that the late Frank Leslie published the first illustrated paper in America and built up a fortune. But reverse overtook him, as they have a way of catching up with even the most successful of men, and at his death Mrs. Leslie found the business involved to the extent of $300,000. It is an interesting story of a plucky woman, this one, of how Mrs. Leslie took charge of affairs, paid off the $300,000 and from the wreck of former days built up a splendid fortune for herself. It took more courage to do it in those old days than it would require now, and it is quite right that women should pay honor to those who have been pioneers in leading the way.

The Baroness de Bazus is a most distinguished looking woman, with a fine personality, and with the ease of manner and charming grace which marks the cosmopolitan, and which is the result, sometimes, of meeting many people in many lands. Her gown was exceedingly handsome and her jewels magnificent. Her costume was of the rarest black lace, fashioned with decollete effect, and trimmed with bands of most exquisite point lace. Her jewels were diamonds and pearls. The diamond collar was of unusual design and the long chain of diamonds and pearls added a brilliant touch to one of the most charming and most effective costumes that any guest of honor has worn here in some months.

The address of the evening was made by Joaquin Miller, who was very eloquent, and, one might add, attired with the eye to picturesque effects, which is a prominent characteristic of the poet. He wore an afternoon suit, set off with high boots of the style of pioneer days, and his head was crowned with a red cap. He gave reminiscences of the days when he knew the late John Hay and Frank Leslie, when John Hay was Minister to Spain, and Miller knew also Mrs. Leslie in those days.

And later Mr. Miller recited his famous poem on Columbus—the one ending each verse with the refrain: "Sail on, and on, and on."

The guests were introduced to Mrs. Leslie by Mrs. Florence Miller, and among well-known people at the reception were:

Austin Lewis, D. Hildebrand, Dr. and Mrs. Charles M. Violet Wheeler, H. Brown, Miss Rose, Joaquin Miller, Paul Ritter, Professor and Mrs. Mrs. Radcliff, Frank Scott, Miss Augusta Fowler, Mrs. Rile, Mr. and Mrs. Mrs. T. Torrey Connor, Charles J. Woodbury, Mr. and Mrs. Mrs. Mary Lambart, Herman Whitaker, Mr. and Mrs. Jack, Mrs. Mollie Connor, London.

Mr. Jack London is to be the special guest of the short story section of the Press Club in the near future. Its members are looking forward with much pleasant anticipation to the evening, since the distinguished author has promised to read a short story which has not yet been published.

WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY AT EBELL CLUB.

Washington's birthday has grown to be a historical event in the annals of the Ebell Club, and the gathering on that day is only second in interest to that of the annual birthday in December.

All of us like, now and then, a playtime, and it is wonderfully fascinating to go back a hundred years, or so, and represent the old times one finds there, in the exciting and far away past. It was a very merry gathering of women which assembled at the Ebell Club, and there was an undercurrent of patriotism that added to the charm of the afternoon.

The decorations were along patriotic lines and revolutionary banners adorned the walls, and the laurel-wreathed pictures of George and Lady Washington looked down upon a group of women fascinating in many ways.

One hardly knew one's dearest friends, gowned as they were in the quaint, old-fashioned costumes of other days. The elaborate white coiffures were most becoming, and young eyes looked younger still for the white pompadours and gay little white curls which strayed down one's neck.

Mrs. Anna Parcells was the hostess of the day, gowned in the aristocratic fashion of her grandmother of long ago. Her satin brocade gown was exceedingly handsome and her snowy hair was most elaborately done.

Mrs. H. A. Powell impersonated Martha Washington, and her gray poplin gown was copied from a picture of Martha Washington. Mrs. Parcells read a paper, the trend of which was to compare the privations of colonial days with the ease and comforts of life and contentment of later days.

Mrs. Everett Brown read a very interesting poem and she made a charming study in a gown of pale blue satin, with a large picture hat of black.

The longest address of the day was made by Rev. William Duy Simonds, and truly we can say, as did the old Roman writer, "Times are changed, and we are changed with them."

For years "woman's suffrage" was a tabooed subject at the Ebell Club, and was to the luckless speaker who tried to drag it in. And lo, on Washington's birthday the speaker of the hour made a ringing plea for suffrage, and the spontaneous and hearty round of applause echoing all through the hall showed the sympathy of the audience in the cause and its appreciation of the plea put forth by the speaker. Ebell stands for suffrage, even though it might not formally line up in the ranks of suffragists.

The refreshments of the hour were much enjoyed, representing coffee as the woman of the present day knows how to make it, and the doughnuts after the manner of our ancestors. Doughnuts are almost a lost art, in the days when the Oriental rules in the kitchen, and one remembers the doughnuts of the old days, made by grandmothers, who could represent the most wonderful animals and funny men, in doughnuts that were remarkable in artistic achievement. One was such a dear little cannibal as one ate, one by one, the fingers from the doughnut man, reserving his head for a last delicious morsel.

Many prominent women of Ebell Club were in colonial costume, adding charming pictures to an already very brilliant scene.

Among the many guests of the afternoon were:

Mrs. T. L. Barker, Mrs. Edgar Bishop, Mrs. George Klapp, Mrs. Gordon Stoop, Mrs. James A. Johnson, Mrs. Robert Brown, Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Thomas Hugu, Mrs. T. C. Coogan, Mrs. C. B. Percolls, Mrs. Frederick Stratton, Mrs. W. E. Davis, Mrs. J. Loran Douse, Mrs. Mabel Gray, Mrs. George Gause, Mrs. Charles Moser.

Mrs. Arthur Breed, Mrs. William Creed, Mrs. A. L. Adams, Mrs. Wm. Chalkering, Mrs. Edwin Morrison, Mrs. D. W. Marston, Mrs. James Allen, Mrs. Charles Leonard Smith, Mrs. Charles H. King, Mrs. B. D. Yorker, Mrs. Thomas Phoeby, Mrs. R. H. Chamberlain.

ENTERTAINED AT CLAREMONT CLUB.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Butters were dinner hosts of the week at the Claremont Club and their guests were entertained at an informal dance.

Later a supper was served at Rose-lawn, the Claremont country home of the Butters.

TO BE HOSTESS AT INTERESTING TEA.

Miss Lolla Wenzelberger is to be the hostess next week at an interesting tea which she is planning to give at her home on Steiner street across the bay.

She will be assisted in receiving her guests by her sister, Mrs. Adolphus Graupner, and among her guests will be many Oakland friends, as both the hostess and her sister are very popular here.

Mrs. Graupner is a graduate of the University of California and belonged to one of its prominent sororities.

PROTECTING THE DUMB ANIMALS.

The Quarterly Bulletin of the Oakland Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals of Alameda county has just been issued and is a most interesting paper.

It carries a leading quotation from De Quincey. "Not to sympathize is not to understand."

The letters from foreign parts are always of extreme interest. The directors of the society are:

T. C. Jenkins, Mrs. A. P. Holland, Mrs. Frank Soule, Mrs. T. C. Jenkins, Mrs. Lawrence, Mrs. William Kolth, Mrs. J. H. Matthews, Mrs. W. C. Ralston.

FIFTY GUESTS AT RANSOME TEA.

Yesterday Mrs. Bernard Ransome was the hostess at an informal tea of about fifty guests, who were asked to meet Mrs. Ransome's mother, Mrs. E. L. Ransome.

The Bernard Ransome's have one of the most artistic homes near Adams Point, a bungalow of much charm. They saw the unique possibilities in the old Country Club, so they moved it away to a lot of their own, and their bungalow is one of the most attractive in that part of the city.

Mrs. Ransome was assisted in receiving her guests yesterday by her sister, Mrs. William Bull Pringle, formerly Miss Belle Hutchinson.

WOMAN'S EXCHANGE AFTERNOON.

The afternoon at the Woman's Exchange called together a large number of visitors in honor of a house warming in a new home.

It was the most successful of "at homes" for many prominent people were in attendance, and many good wishes were expressed for the future prosperity of the exchange.

The decorations were along very elaborate lines and the receiving party took a very personal interest in entertaining the many guests of the hour.

Mrs. William Letts Oliver presided at the tea table and she was assisted in her duties by many well-known people.

The Oliviers are living in San Francisco now, but Mrs. Oliver came over to reside at the tea table, as the affairs of the exchange have always been a matter of great interest to her. Among the members of the receiving party were:

Mrs. W. E. Sharon, Mrs. Edwin Morrison, Mrs. Isaac Bequa, Mrs. Florence Brown, Mrs. Lillian Everts, Mrs. George Jensen, Mrs. C. W. Ames, Mrs. Edward Remillard, Mrs. R. G. Brown, Mrs. Hubert Brown.

One hears that Mrs. W. E. Sharon, who has served the exchange many years as its able and popular president, and who has made its work a success, is to resign in the near future. She has worked many years, and she feels that there are others who are competent to take up the burden of responsibility which she feels called upon to lay down.

ARE ENTERTAINING VISITING MATRONS.

Two young matrons who are guests in our city are being extensively entertained by friends of their school girl days. Mrs. George Doubleday (Alice Moffitt) is a guest of her mother Mrs. James Moffitt, at the old family home on Twenty-second street.

Another interesting guest is Mrs. Coffman, who was Miss Margaret Knight. The Knights lived here for some years, and their delightful home on Madison street was formerly the center of much social entertainment. Mrs. Knight was identified with some of our leading charities and was a hostess with much charm of manner and of a winning personality.

Margaret Knight was an exceedingly attractive young girl and she had many friends among that set of young girls who have developed for the most part into such charming matrons. Among them were the Crellins, Chabots, Prathers, Selbys, Palmers, Sinclairs, Anne Clay, Moffitts, Emma Mahony, Adele Morrison, Mary Barker, Amy Long, the Herricks, the Hushes, Moores, Wellmans, Grace Sanborn—the girls of the "Thursday Club" for the most part—all charming girls and well worth while.

The Knights moved to Los Angeles about ten years ago and their home has been in the southern part of the State ever since. Miss Knight married Lieutenant Coffman and they have a beautiful home in the suburbs of Los Angeles, and there are two charming little daughters to brighten it.

Mrs. Coffman is the guest of Miss Mona Crellin, who gave a buffet luncheon in her honor this week, and who entertained twenty-four guests at the luncheon and the interesting bridge game which followed.

Mrs. Wallace Alexander (Mary Barker) is planning to entertain at luncheon in honor of Mrs. B. Coffman, and other dates of interest for her are on the social calendar.

Mrs. Harry East Miller's bridge afternoon in honor of Mrs. Doubleday has been postponed, owing to the illness of Mrs. Miller's little daughter.

Mrs. Robert Lee Stephenson is to give a bridge afternoon in honor of Mrs. Doubleday, who has been a very dear friend for years, and Mrs. Henry Nicholls has asked a dozen mutual friends for luncheon entertaining at her Piedmont home in honor of Mrs. Doubleday.

So life means a merry round of entertainment these days in honor of Mrs. Doubleday and Mrs. Coffman.

EARLY OPENING OF COUNTRY HOMES.

Country homes are being opened much earlier than usual this year, owing to our splendid weather and to the early coming of spring. Mr. Sutton and Miss Carmen Sutton, with Miss Jessie Craig, have recently returned from a delightful spring outing at Inverness.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Roberts (Ella Everson) have taken a very picturesque cottage at Ross Valley, where they will spend the spring months. The Roberts will remain in the Everson home during the absence of the family in Europe.

The H. M. A. Millers, who have been spending the winter at the Fairmont, have gone to Ross Valley, having re-opened their summer home there.

Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Bowles and Miss Amy Bowles, who have spent the winter at the Fairmont, have come to this side of the bay—the new home, "The Pines," having been recently completed.

YOUNG CALIFORNIAN'S NEW BOOK.

Juliet Wilbur Tompkins' new book is being sent out by the publishers and is now in the hands of the reviewers. It is a New York story and the author has named it "The Top of the Morning," and that is just like a Californian; we are not satisfied with a simple "Good morning"—but we must wish each other "The Top of the Morning!"

ROMANTIC MARRIAGE IS DISCUSSED.

This sound like the title of one of Mrs. E. D. E. N. Woods' novels, but is in reality the topic of all San Francisco tea tables since the buzzing telephones of Monday evening and the morning journals of Tuesday announced the romantic nuptials of Miss "Dolly" MacGavin and Douglas Frye. The intimate friends of both parties knew that an understanding existed between them, but on account of the extreme youth of the bridegroom—he not being yet past his school days—it was not thought that anything much would come of the affair. The two young people have been madly in love for some time and this week they decided to take the law into their own hands and marry. The mother of the bridegroom, Mrs. Rogers, was induced to give her consent so that a marriage license could be obtained, and after the ceremony had been performed by a Justice of the Peace, Mrs. Frye telephoned to her mother and announced what she had done. Mrs. MacGavin took her resolution quickly and resolved to have a religious solemnization of the marriage at once. She got into communication with the bride and bridegroom, induced them to come to the MacGavin house and at nine o'clock the same evening Rev. Mr. Rennison of St. Paul's Episcopal Church read the solemn service before a few friends who had been hastily summoned by telephone. The "whom God hath joined together let no man put asunder" was never more solemn than when pronounced over these two young people. The bride wore a white gown and a wedding veil and Mrs. Marian Miller acted as bridesmaid. Later there was a wedding supper with the customary toasts, but nothing of course was as a mother would have had the nuptial feast of the only daughter of the house. Miss Amelia Henshelwood, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. MacGavin, since October, having come from Paris for the wedding of the only son of the house, Dr. Drummond, was present at the marriage of her niece and namesake—an unexpected pleasure. Miss Henshelwood was to have returned to Paris this week, but has now postponed her departure for a fortnight or so. Mr. and Mrs. Frye have departed upon a brief wedding journey and on their return their plans are naturally indefinite.

Mrs. Frye as Miss "Dolly" MacGavin has been one of the most popular girls in San Francisco society. She never had any formal debut, but "came out" with Miss Helen Baker, now Mrs. Drummond MacGavin, and Miss Alexandra Hamilton three winters ago. Since then she has had no end of fun and a great deal of attention. Several times her engagement had been hinted at or even rumored but no formal announcement had ever been made. Her friends and those of young Frye are hoping that none of the usual unpleasant proverbs or aphorisms will apply and that the young people may find themselves well mated and may live happily forever after.

VERY YOUNG GIRLS ENTERTAINING.

This season has been marked by the appearance of several very young girls as hostesses, among them Miss Marguerite Doe and Miss Jane Hotelling, neither of whom is out, but both of whom have had quite a share in the parties of the winter. Miss Viola Page of Chicago and Miss Florence Bell have been the motif for much of this entertaining. Miss Page is a young and sweetly pretty girl. On Wednesday Miss Jane Hotelling gave a large luncheon for Miss Page at the Hotelling home.

EAT PEAS AND FLIRT! BE A POET BY STRING BEAN DIET

Leguminotherapy Teaches Such and Similar Means of Evading Present High Cost of Living--Potatoes Make Us Lazy

WASHINGTON, D. C. -- Time was when we didn't feed Rev. Fido, Towser or whatever that pet pup's name was, raw meat, because we wanted him to become, when he grew up, a nice, cute well-behaved, home-like canine person. Comes now the Department of Agriculture, with its leguminotherapy doctrine (whatever that is), as a recipe for good human temperment--and for cutting down the "high cost of living."

Vegetables are to be taken, according to the leguminotherapists, in quantities and varieties to suit the person that eats them.

Boiled carrots are prescribed for bad tempers, green peas should be fed to girls with a tendency to flirt, over-indulgence in potatoes is apt to produce apathy and laziness; spinach should be taken, particularly by the young, because it induces energy and develops constancy, and French string beans are said to constitute an ideal diet for poets and artists.

White haricot beans should be eaten by intellectual workers, because they restore the nervous system and should, the science holds, be preferred as a strengthening food to any sort of meat and especially beef. Dried chickpeas, Daudet and Dusen fed on haricot beans. Cauliflower and cabbage are very nourishing, but are not advocated, because they have the drawback of producing vulgarity of character and slowness of perception.

The leguminotherapists declare that these vegetables have all the good qualities that are embodied in either meat or eggs without having, however, their inconveniences. A proper and carefully measured vegetarian diet is the treatment suggested by utilizing vegetables for the physical and mental welfare of the human race.

The absence of meat, it is held, prevents a person from being vicious and bloodthirsty.

WHAT WOMEN ARE DOING

As specimens of "heroic womanhood," the Rev. Dr. Aked names Katherine Brushkovsky, Elizabeth Kovalsky and Hope Stidder, because of what they have accomplished for the Russian cause.

Miss Lida Stokes Adams is instituting a house-to-house campaign in the East in the interests of the suffrage movement. Miss Adams' assistants will distribute a folder devoted to the interests of suffrage, and other suffrage literature as well.

The German empress is, like her husband, an early riser, and she and the emperor breakfast at 8 o'clock, never later. The empress pours out the coffee, and were she not there to do so the emperor would not think of starting the meal. To her habit of early rising much of the Kaiser's ill health is attributed in Germany, for she needs far more rest than does her energetic husband. Still, she is the soul of punctuality--even at breakfast time--and so greatly does she value this much-neglected virtue that when she gives a wedding present to a friend it is almost always in the form of a traveling clock.

Grandmother's Valentine

He had to wear his clothes, of course, for fear of taking cold. But we made a pair of paper wings and spangled them with gold. With glided bow and arrow, too, our little laddie made. As sweet a baby Cupid as ever was portrayed.

Then mother rined a little verse and taught him to recite. He said it over patiently until each word was right.

"My own dear grandmother, I'll be your faithful Valentine. Thro' all the happy years to come, if you will just be mine!"

When Cupid got to grandma's house her table was all spread. With muffins and with peach preserves and spicy ginger bread. And while he stood and gazed and gazed at all the tempting things, Dear grandma cried, "Why, Cupid, love, I know you by your wings!"

"My own dear grandmother, I'll be your little lad began, And then he pointed out his lip, as dimpled Cupids can, And looking up at grandmother as grieved as grieved could be, He cried, "I isn't Cupid, and I wants to stay to tea!"

Mrs. Wayne MacVeagh Has Famous String of Pearls

Lady Paget Comes to America As Cupid's Agent, Gossip Says

LADY ARTHUR PAGET, whose visit to this country is the subject of considerable surmise.

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.--Much comment and surmise attends the sudden visit of this country of Lady Arthur Paget, wife of the eminent British Peer. A desire to see her native shore is not the only reason for her visit, declare the gossip and friend of Lord Thynne and an intimate of the charming Mrs. Billy Leeds, she may be here as a sort of minister plenipotentiary, bent on administering the affairs of an elusive Dan Cupid, in a satisfactory manner.

Lord Thynne is considerably younger than Mrs. Leeds, but since the death of the late Billy Leeds, he has paid earnest court to the fascinating widow and from time to time there have been rumors that she looked upon his suit with favor. Nothing definite has been announced, however, and the supposition is that Lady Paget is to try her hand in straightening out the intricate tangle presented by Mrs. Leeds' very immature years compared to the nobility's extreme youth. Lord Thynne having just arrived at his twenty-third year.

WASHINGTON.--No woman in Washington, and few in New York, has such a famous collection of pearls as Mrs. MacVeagh, wife of the Secretary of the Treasury. At a White House reception last week Mrs. MacVeagh wore a rope of pearls that hung right to the waist, with a shorter one, made up of sixty perfectly matched gems of unusual size and beauty, came half way between the long necklace and a deep dog collar of pearls, set with four bars of diamonds, with a beautiful solitaire in the center of each bar.

Jewels admit pearls are becoming rarer than diamonds, and it is only the richness with which they lend themselves to almost limitless imitation that prevents their price from soaring. The floating supply of real pearls is nothing like enough to meet the demand of the women who wish to wear them, but the imitations are so good that jewelers say if all those worn by the occupants of the golden horseshoe in the Metropolitan Opera House were subjected to the same searching scrutiny as that under which Mrs. Astor's famous necklace was placed more than one popular idol would be shattered.

Artificial pearls--such as those the Duke of Manchester bought for Miss Helen Zimmerman, after which he permitted the bill to go to his future father-in-law are made by filing spheres of thin glass with a silvery preparation that gives closely to the inner wall, the rest of the cavity being filled with wax, to give the proper shape. To these of course it is a comparatively easy matter to give perfect shape, and the jewelers' art has caught the likeness of a seen of the genuine pearl to perfection. As a general rule, the finest natural pearls come from India and Ceylon, but those that are perfect in shape and color usually are rather small. American pearls, which are larger, hold second place in the estimation of jewelers. They possess a faint tinge of color that distinguishes them plainly from the dead and lustrous shell of the product of the Indian Ocean.

Chicago Woman Makes Husband Do Washing

CHICAGO, Feb. 26.--Just as a means of keeping her husband humble, Mrs. Anna Ulrich has decided that he must do the family washing and help every day with the dishes. These tasks and several others are imposed because Judge Neuviller gave her the power in the Deplorable street court Wednesday. The husband, Charles Ulrich, was paroled to his wife after being arraigned on a charge of drunkenness.

The affair was delightful in every way and was, of course, a feast for a gourmet. American Beauty roses, violets and red carnations formed the table decorations and delightful speeches were made by Horace Platt, Dr. Taylor, Peter Robertson and Dr. Shields.

A charming house party was given by Miss Jane Holding in honor of Mrs. Page of Chicago at Sleepy Hollow Ranch last week. The guests were all young girls of the sub-debante age and the affair was very jolly.

DR. BURKE SERIOUSLY ILL AT HIS S. F. SANITARIUM

Nervous Strain of Indictment Is Too Much for the Aged Man

IS HELD IN $25,000 BONDS BY THE COUNTY COURT

Charged With the Dynamiting of Miss Smith and of Malpractice.

GIVES BAIL FOR THE AMOUNT AS FIXED

His Victim Tells of Accused Physician's Conduct With Her.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 26.—Dr. Willard P. Burke was stricken at his sanitarium this morning and is confined in his bed, having completely collapsed after a sleepless night, during which he paced the floor of his apartments incessantly. The breakdown came just before dawn, and it is feared that the indicted head of the institution in which Miss Luella Smith and her infant were dynamited in her bed at night is destined to spend a long time under the care of the physicians. No details of his condition were furnished at the sanitarium.

He is an old man and has worried a great deal since his arrest on the charge that he dynamited Miss Smith's tent for the purpose of putting an end to the talk about his being the father of the child.

CAREWORN AND HAGGARD.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 26.—With the marks of a sleepless night plainly visible in his drawn white face, Dr. Willard P. Burke, who was last night indicted on two felony charges by the Sonoma county grand jury at Santa Rosa, arrived in this city this morning, accompanied by L. P. Crane, an intimate friend and capitalist of that city.

On the train he refused positively to discuss the case with newspaper men, and, retiring to a rear section of the car, preserved a tectum silence, except during his brief conversations with Crane, which were carried on in a low tone of voice. The two charges against Dr. Burke are the attempt to dynamite the tenthouse occupied by Luella Smith and her 11 months' old child on February 5, and a second one charging him with performing an illegal operation upon Mrs. Mabel Moll, a young woman living near Santa Rosa, on January 10.

ANTICIPATED OUTCOME.

Dr. Burke apparently anticipated the outcome of the grand jury's inquiry and during yesterday afternoon when deliberations were being brought to a conclusion he spent much of his time standing at a window in the office of Attorney Rolfo Leppe in a building overlooking the courthouse, where the evidence against him was being weighed and considered.

He was apparently very nervous. His face was drawn and pale, and he stroked his patriarchal beard with trembling, uncertain fingers as the day drew to a close.

CONFERS WITH ATTORNEY.

Shortly before the return of the indictment he drove out to the sanitarium, where he held a long conference with Attorney Hiram Johnson, who arrived at Santa Rosa during the afternoon. Judge Sewall issued warrants for the arrest of Dr. Burke immediately after the report of the jury, and they were served upon him by Sheriff Smith in his study at the sanitarium. He was at once brought before Judge Sewall, where he furnished the required bail of $25,000 on the dynamite charge and $10,000 on the other.

As he left the courthouse he preserved a moody, semi-detached air, and in the opinion of those who have known the physician intimately the second charge of malpractice came as an added blow which has shattered his courage and given him, for the first time since the beginning of the trial, a pessimistic outlook on its possible conclusion. He acted almost perceptibly as the indictments were read, and for some time afterward he refused to speak even to his attorneys.

Luella Smith, the woman around whom the interest of the sensational case centers, was told of Dr. Burke's indictment by a TRIBUNE representative later in the evening. She lay on a cot at the Sonoma county hospital, with her head tightly bandaged and an overpowering odor of camphor filling the small white room. As she learned of the outcome of the jury's deliberations she seemed absolutely unmoved.

"I cannot say that I am surprised, I suppose it had to come."

VICTIM'S APPEARANCE.

Clad in a long, loose robe of a peculiar shade of blue, she looked sad and careworn. Miss Smith is neither young nor beautiful, nor does she in any way convey the impression of a woman who might inspire a man to crime. Tall and extremely thin, looking older than her forty years and showing in her irregular features and small, rather shifty eyes the mental suffering she has undergone, she looks merely an unattractive, middle-aged woman, whose spirit has been crushed until she now gazes upon life with apathetic eyes.

It is the theory of District Attorney Lee that the allegations of the woman that Dr. Burke was the father of her child was the inspiration for the attempted dynamiting of the tent house, the aim being to put them both out of the way and thus end forever her accusations. In line with this theory much of Miss Smith's time on the stand yesterday was devoted to her relations with Dr. Burke. With head down and faltering voice she went into details which were completely in view of other evidence already in the jury's possession.

HER STORY.

"Dr. Burke has my fullest confidence," she said. He professed to love me and I gave my heart to him. We first met when I went to him for osteopathic treatment. After that I worked for him, but I didn't seem to be cut out for a nurse, and as time went on I grew more and more to depend upon his friendship. His affection for me seemed to strengthen and for the past four years he has practically supported me, giving me almost all of the money that I have had. He is the father of my child. Since the baby's birth he has provided for it as well as me, knowing full well that there can be no questions of the little one's paternity.

SOCIAL OUTCAST.

"Physically I have been well cared for. Socially I have been an outcast. I felt several times that I ought to leave the sanitarium, but Dr. Burke would not listen to my going. I wanted to creep away somewhere where I was not known and give the boy a chance to grow up like other children. Several times I packed my trunk and prepared to leave, but Dr. Burke and others dissuaded me from going. Once, when I insisted, he told me to wait and he would give me sufficient money to go to San Francisco, where he said I should be allowed to lead my own life. After this I went to the office for the money, but from day to day he temporized and finally grew angry.

CHOKED HER.

"We quarreled and he choked me. In desperation I telegraphed to Charles W. Wheeler, asking for legal advice, and it was just after this that the explosion occurred.

As she lay on her cot at the county hospital Miss Smith told what she could of the explosion. She had gone to bed shortly before midnight and was sleeping soundly with the baby by her side. As in a dream there came a terrific detonation, a blast of light, and feeling as though she had been struck on the head she became unconscious. Her recollection was of being carried out into the cool night air and of later being put to bed.

Asked if she had ever contemplated suicide, the woman's voice grew hard, her eyes took on a peculiar, cat-like expression and she clenched her hands on the counterpane.

"Never," she cried excitedly. "Dr. Burke knows it's not true. Why, my baby is everything in the world to me and I wouldn't go away and leave it if they told me that God were waiting to receive me into paradise. When a woman is made an outcast kicked around from pillar to post, humbled with the stings of Magdalene, she turns in her extremity to something else, loves, and in my case it has been my baby."

POLICE AFRAID OF ANOTHER BIG STRIKE OUTBREAK

Fear Fresh Rioting in the City of Philadelphia With the Cessation of Work.

ARREST OF LABOR CHIEF ADDS TO UNEASINESS

President of Union Is Charged With Having Incited Mob to Violence.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 26.—The beginning of the second week of the strike against the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company finds the city authorities apprehensive of what today and tomorrow may develop, in spite of the progress toward the re-establishment of order made in the last two days.

Today is a half holiday in many of the industrial plants whose employees are in strong sympathy with the strikers, and last Sunday proved to be the hardest day on the police of any during the strike.

ARREST CAUSES UNEASINESS.

The arrest of John J. Murphy, the young president of the Central Labor Union, on the charge of inciting to riot, has added to the uneasiness in labor circles. The warrant for Murphy's arrest was issued by the director of Public Safety City, following the publication in the afternoon papers of the following statement said to have been made by the head of the Central Labor Union:

"You can depend upon it that by Sunday's meeting a general strike will be called. If one man is shot in Kensington there will be a carnival of riot and bloodshed which will startle the entire country."

WAIT FOR DEVELOPMENTS.

"I should not care to be responsible for such a outbreak. The state police would be helpless. I want it understood that there are men in the northeast who can shoot as straight as any trooper who ever drew breath. Just wait and you will see something which will open your eyes."

Murphy denied that he had made such a statement for publication. He says he merely expressed an opinion as to what might develop if the strike continued.

ADMITTED TO BAIL.

Unlike Pratt, who was denied bail when arrested on a similar charge a few days ago, Murphy was permitted to enter bail before a magistrate for his hearing today.

Impacted with yesterday there was no noticeable change in the early hours of the day in the matter of street car facilities. Cars were operated under police protection on nearly all lines. Two or three lines, the company claims, are being run with almost the full number of cars.

The renegade of a general sympathetic strike still hangs over the city. President Murphy says he fully expects the Central body at its regular meeting tomorrow to favor such a movement.

He would not predict whether all trades unions in the city would join in a walkout.

FREEZES TO DEATH AS HE WALKS HOME AFTER JAIL TERM

PORTLAND, Maine, Feb. 26.—The extreme weather of the past few days has caused several deaths. Frank A. Burnham, a milk dealer of Scarborough, became exhausted while walking home, and stopping to rest, was frozen to death beside the road.

FIND FUSE AND ALCOHOL.

The discovery last night of a small blaze in the Golden Gate Planing Mill, which examination proved was incendiary, has started a police investigation which may result in several arrests. The mill, which is situated at 104 Stanford avenue, has for the past two weeks been run as an "open shop," several workmen going on strike according to union orders, and the fact that Sam Cowan, owner of the mill, has incurred the enmity of the union has been suggested by several of the mill hands as a reason for the attempt to burn the mill.

MEN ON STRIKE.

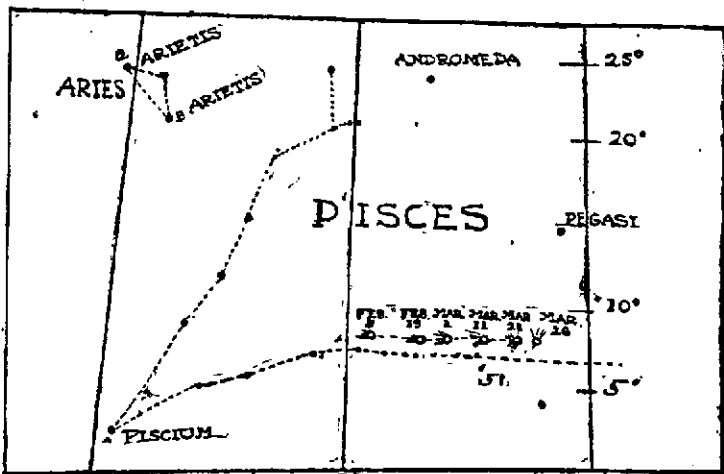

Two weeks ago Otto Anderson, J. Thompson, H. Cleveland and E. W. McLean, the foreman of the mill, were ordered by the union of the mill hands to walk out, and on their doing so Cowan declared an open shop policy. McLean, stating that he thought more of his family than of the union, and that he needed the wages, returned to work and maintains that he will "stick it out." The other men have not returned to work.

"I cannot say," said McLean, "whether strikers or union sympathizers have any connection with the fire, but I will make every effort to solve the mystery. The police are working on the case and work in the mill will be resumed Monday."

Fire Threatened the Union Iron Works

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 26.—The costly plant of the Union Iron Works in the city was endangered at an early hour this morning by a fire in the power house, caused by crossed electric wires. The prompt action of Engineer Thomas Burns in extinguishing the flames and in turning off the power saved the plant from being destroyed. The damage has not yet been estimated, but the blaze was extinguished after five minutes' work on the part of the firemen.

How to Find Halley's Comet Can Be Seen With Opera Glass

Apparent path of Halley's comet February to March 26, 1910.

HALLEY'S COMET COMING CLOSER INTO MORTAL KEN

Its Nearest Approach Will Not Be Less Than Fourteen Million Miles From the Earth

BERKELEY, Feb. 26.—Visible now through an ordinary opera glass, the celebrated Halley's comet will soon appear to the naked eye.

An announcement was made today from the Students' Observatory of the University of California, explaining the position of the comet in the sky and telling of the rapid approach it is making toward the earth. The astronomers declare in their announcement that no evil effects are to be predicted from the approach of the celestial visitor.

The comet, according to the chart made by Astronomer W. F. Meyer of the Students' Observatory, rises above the horizon one hour and sixteen minutes ahead of the sun and may be seen looking the well known square of Pegasus. The comet is between this and the constellation Aries.

WHERE IT IS.

A technical description of the location of the comet is given in the announcement as follows:

As an aid in locating the comet some of the neighboring stars have been plotted in the diagram. Perhaps the easiest way of locating the region of the sky is to look for the well known so-called square of Pegasus of which the star (Gamma), noted on the diagram, forms a corner.

"Then Alpha Pegasus and the group of stars Alpha, Beta, Gamma, Arcturus may be identified. Within the triangle formed by Gamma Pegasus, Alpha Pegasus and the stars of Aries, two streamers of faint stars may be traced commencing with Alpha Pegasus. These streamers are indicated in the diagram by dotted lines. Above the lower streamer is the path of the comet which may readily be picked up with reference to the faint stars in the lower streamer for any date to March 25th. For those having telescopes with setting circles the following more accurate positions for Gr. M. Noon may serve:

1910 RA. Dec. Feb. 24 24m 5s 7 deg. 54 sec. Mar. 1 24 2 7 deg. 55 sec. Mar. 6 24 10 7 deg. 57 sec. Mar. 11 25 28 8 deg. 0 sec. Mar. 16 26 37 8 deg. 2 sec. Mar. 21 28 33 8 deg. 4 sec. Mar. 26 30 15 8 deg. 6 sec.

APPROACHING SUN.

The comet is approaching the sun and will pass it on March 25th, about 6.5 degrees north. It will then probably become invisible until it emerges on the western side of the sun. The comet's distance from the sun on February 24th will be about 1.25 astronomical units and from the earth 1.9 astronomical units. Its approach to the sun, on April 19, will be a little less than 0.6 astronomical units; its closest approach to the earth about May 20, about 0.15 astronomical units.

An astronomical unit is approximately 92.5 million miles, so that the nearest distance from the earth will be less than 14 million miles.

It is hardly necessary to repeat that no disastrous consequences whatever are to be feared from the approach of the comet.

WIFE ELUDES HER POLICE IN CLASH SPOUSE AFTER HIS LONG SEARCH WITH RIOTERS; ONE SHOT

Hunts Her and Affinity Across Continent to Lose the Fugitives.

Police Authorities Asked to Take Up the Chase After Them.

Telling a tale of wandering about the United States for several months in search of his wife and her affinity, with whom she eloped in Westfield, Massachusetts, five months ago, Sam Bovino, a laborer, formerly of the Massachusetts town, reported to Chief of Police Wilson this morning that his wife, whom he found a few days ago in Oakland, had again disappeared with her lover, and asked the assistance of the police in locating her as well as in securing $500 which she took when she left his home in the East.

MARRIED WHEN FIFTEEN.

Bovino and his wife were married in Westfield twelve years ago, when the bride was but fifteen years of age, and lived in a lodging house operated by Bovino for a number of years. About seven months ago Charles Fort, a laborer, appeared on the scene, securing rooms in the Bovino lodging house and making love to Bovino's wife. Five months ago the couple eloped, taking with them $500 in coin, which the husband had been saving.

FINDS WIFE.

A few days ago the husband, who followed the pair across the country, found them living together at 474 Shattuck avenue, Townsend, and forced the wife to promise to return East with him. This morning he made arrangements to start home with his wife, and, returning for her to the Townsend address, found that she and Fort had again fled.

"We lived together for twelve years in happiness," stated Bovino, "until Fort, who is a tall, good looking young fellow, flattered her and turned her head. She was only 27 years old when she ran away." Bovino is about 35 years of age and is in the employ of the city of Oakland.

Bovino asked Chief Wilson to assist him in securing the money taken by his wife, but was told that the money was community property, according to law, and that the law therefore could not reach the wife.

Wilson declared that he would do his best to locate the wife, but that he could not guarantee her return.

WIFE INDICTED FOR SLAYING PROFESSOR VAUGHAN

She Is Arrested and Is Later Released on $25,000 Bonds.

BREAKS DOWN AND CRIES WHEN TAKING OATH

Nods Her Head as Judge Tells Her She Is Charged With Murder.

MONROE CITY, Mo., Feb. 26.—Dr. J. R. Hull was re-arrested this afternoon on a warrant charging him with the murder of Professor Vaughan. He will be taken to Kirksville tomorrow. Mrs. Vaughan arrived home this afternoon.

KIRKSVILLE, Mo., Feb. 26.—Mrs. Alma Vaughan was arrested this morning on a warrant charging her with the murder of her husband, Prof. John T. Vaughan. She was released on $25,000 bond.

Mrs. Vaughan went to the office of Sheriff Williams and surrendered at 8:40 o'clock. During a 20-minute wait while her attorneys were consulting she sat in the sheriff's office and at 9 o'clock went into the circuit court room. Judge Sheldon told her she was charged with the murder. She replied with a nod of her head. She was calm until she was told to stand up and swear she would appear in court when summoned.

Then she broke down and wept and after taking the oath she sank into her chair. James S. Scott, her uncle; M. J. Proctor, Jr., her brother, and E. K. Yowell of Monroe City, qualified as bondsmen, swaying the aggregate wealth was in excess of $150,000.

TRIAL IN MAY TERM.

Her attorney, William R. Ragland, asked the court to set the date for trial, but the judge said it could not be before the May term of court.

The report of the grand jury was not made public this morning. The warrant was issued soon after the grand jury reported late yesterday. Prosecutor Reker announced in court that he would issue a warrant for the arrest of Dr. Hull of Monroe City. As Dr. Hull is at liberty on a bond of $7,000, Sheriff Williams will not go to Monroe City to serve it immediately.

Mrs. Vaughan arrived here last night from Monroe City at the request of her attorneys. They had anticipated that a warrant would be served at that time. She did not want her aged parents to see the warrant served.

CAUSE OF SUSPICION.

The tinkling strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march played by Mrs. Vaughan shortly after her husband's death led to the grand jury investigation of the death of Professor Vaughan.

Although Professor Vaughan, who was instructor of American history in the State Normal School here, died in convulsions October 14, no one suspected at the time that his death was unnatural except one or two persons who thought he might have taken poison accidentally.

Mrs. Vaughan's music was heard ten days after Vaughan's death by Mrs. J. B. Kirk, whose guest she was after the funeral. Mrs. Kirk's suspicions were aroused, and she confided in her husband, who is president of the State Normal.

INVESTIGATION FOLLOWED.

She told other things she had observed which seemed unusual in the behavior of a widow. An investigation of the death was instigated by President Kirk and Vaughan's brothers as a result.

Professor Vaughan was apparently in the best of health when he arrived home from church on the night of his death. Thirty minutes later he died in convulsions. His widow, Mrs. Alma Proctor Vaughan, who survived him, with their 7-year-old daughter, testified at the coroner's inquest that her husband took quinine in a paper capsule as soon as he arrived home.

RECORD FEAT IN KEEPING OF COLD STORAGE STEAKS

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—A record feat in cold storage is recounted in a statement by Dr. Bayard C. Palmer, chief inspector of foods for New York city.

According to the doctor's story, there was discovered in Russia some time ago, the carcasses of a mammoth which scientists said had been alive before the glacial period. That meant that the body, still in perfect condition, was more than 250,000 years old. Tests showed that the meat was well preserved and a huge steak from it was served at a dinner given by prominent scientists. The guests pronounced the meat excellent.

"Once meat or poultry has been frozen," says Dr. Palmer, "the passage of time has no effect on it and fermentation is completely arrested as long as it is kept in a frozen condition. When thawing sets in, however, deterioration is rapid."

Murphy Stuck to His Conviction Until Final Rounds, but the Britisher Switched Early

By EDDIE SMITH.

It is interesting to note the different manner in which the two pugilists who are to meet Monday night looked at the Wolgast-Nelson scrap and how each felt as to the ending. For the sake of advertising his show and giving the people a chance to look his boxers over, Jim Coffroth had both Murphy and Moran come to the arena, and each in turn was introduced to the crowd. After having been introduced they wandered back to where Coffroth was sitting and both sat in the same box with the promoter.

During the contest Coffroth interested himself in quizzing the men as to the outcome. From the first to the thirty-fourth Murphy maintained that Nelson would eventually come through and win. It was the opinion of Murphy that Wolgast would tire out before the limit and then Nelson would come through and beat him down. In the last five rounds of the contest, however, Murphy was willing to admit that Nelson's chance had gone.

From the thirteenth round Moran was willing to bet that Nelson would lose and at that time said that he did not believe that Nelson would go twenty rounds. Both of the pugilists had gone to the arena with the feeling that Nelson would win, and while one stuck to the battle until the last, the other switched almost as soon as the first of the Nelson admirers. Both Murphy and Moran claim winning contests with Wolgast and it was perhaps with the feeling that they had bested the Milwaukee fighter that each had picked Nelson to win.

WINNER TO MEET WOLGAST.

The winning of Wolgast has added new interest to the contest of Monday night in that the winner of that contest will in all probability be matched to meet the new champion some time during the latter part of the year. Battling Nelson will be after a return match with Wolgast, but there is going to be considerable talk about this match, and before it is finally made the champion and that Wolgast will meet the winner of the contest of Monday. That Moran is already a great favorite with the people in this vicinity there can be no doubt, for the best proof of this fact is the big house he has drawn every time he has fought.

Everyone who has seen Tommy Moran work at his training quarters has come away much impressed with his action and there is little doubt that he will become a great favorite if he beats the Britisher. Murphy will out in the first rounds of the contest, says the opinion of most of the men who have seen him in action, and the one thing that keeps the fans from betting their bank on him is the doubt of his power.

CONFIDENCE OF TOMMY.

Murphy's reply to this fact is very good and shows some thought. "I had the least idea that I could not take this money," he said. "I have come to the point where I can always have six and ten-round bouts in and about New York and at the end of the year clean up just as much money as I can by boxing here. I am as anxious to fight here as I am to fight in New York. I will eventually meet the champion over a long route. I am going to prove my right to that chance."

Moran won from Wolgast and when he returned to the arena he was in a position to demand a match from Wolgast, whom I have already beaten. Murphy is training at Al White's place at Freeman's Park and will have open house today and tomorrow for the best of the men who have seen him work. Moran is at the Beach Tavern, and unlike the last few men who have trained there he is not charging any admission to see him work. Moran will work today and Sunday and rest all day Monday.

BLOT A BUSY MAN.

Louis Blot is as busy a matchmaker as ever held permits for boxing shows in San Francisco and the result of his first labors in this direction has been:

RALEIGH P.D. CAPTURES THE IRVINGTON HANDICAP

Large Sums of Money Taken Out on Win of Helen Barbee—Bedwell's Horses Make Good

By LEE DEMIER.

The largest crowd of the week made their way to the Oakland track yesterday. Ideal racing weather prevailed, but the rain from the ship down the heavy rain of the night before. Favorites again went down in a heap, but the public regained most of their losses of the day before as well played second choices cornered with the purse. The betting was lively and from all accounts the layers balanced their "memory" business on the wrong side of the ledger. The Irvington Handicap, which featured the best of the big operators in the local incident connected with the racing. The classic brought together at the weights such well-known performers as Daddy G. P. D., the favorite, and Bedwell's, which was the second choice. The race was a perfect start. Raleigh P. D. was the first to break and simply breezed all the way, winning with plenty of time to spare.

The followers of Jockey Shilling got their money back which they lost in the first two races when he piloted Lord Clinton home a winner in the race over the favorite, which was the second choice. The race was a perfect start. Raleigh P. D. was the first to break and simply breezed all the way, winning with plenty of time to spare.

Four Metropolitan Race Tracks Pool For Coming Season

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—Four of the big race tracks around New York City have pooled in for the coming season. They are Brighton, Empire City, Aqueduct and Jockey Club. The result of their agreement, the four associations will divide the profits or losses that may result from the eight months' pool allotted to them. It appears that the pool will be a combination of the four tracks. The idea originated with the Jockey Club, which has been pooling their receipts on certain of the big races. The track owners declare that they do not expect to lose a cent from the pool. This may be called a "pool" or "investment" this year. They say they will be satisfied to pay expenses. The pool is arranged, however, shows that the track owners feel confident of a certain renewal of public patronage.

WIFE'S DUTY IS TO SHIELD SPOUSE

Attorney Frick Declares it
Extends to Criminal Husband.

In the closing hour of his all-day argument before Superior Judge Brown for a new trial for Anna Pleagel, convicted of complicity with her husband, Henry L. Lewis, now in Folsom penitentiary, in the burglary of the Dr. James T. Don residence, Attorney A. L. Frick last evening raised the unusual and unique point that under the marital vows the woman had taken it was incumbent upon her to shield her husband, even though he was a criminal.

The evidence upon which the Pleagel woman was convicted was almost all circumstantial, one of the strongest features of it being the testimony of police officers to the effect that she had lied to them about her husband and about the stolen property recovered in their rooms after she and Lewis were arrested for the Per Don burglary.

Attorney Frick argued that these untruths could not be held against the woman because it was the implied duty of a wife to cling to and protect her husband when in trouble, and that she could not be held to account if she extended aid and comfort to the man she had solemnly promised to "love and honor" and to take "for better or for worse," even when he had broken the law.

Frick also laid stress upon the fact that the state had failed to prove that the Pleagel woman actually entered the Don residence, although there was some evidence to show that she had remained in the room, he pawned or sold some of the stolen property, and that other purloined goods were found in his trunk.

At the hour of adjournment Attorney Frick had not concluded his argument and Judge Brown continued the matter until Monday morning.

OFFICERS NAMED BY AID SOCIETY

Employers of Taft & Pennoyer
Hold Meeting and Hear Reports.

"The Mutual Aid," an organization among the employees of Taft & Pennoyer, and having as its object the social and beneficial interests of its members, met last evening for the annual session at the rooms in the store. The great interest which is being taken in the organization was shown by the large number which attended.

The officers' reports for the year 1909 were read, showing that sixteen members had received sick benefits totaling $427, while one funeral benefit of $50 had been paid. Since the organization of the society some six years ago over $2000 have been thus distributed, while the same amount remains in the treasury. The election of officers resulted as follows: President, J. S. Gilmore; vice president, W. H. Thelle; secretary, J. J. Rigney; treasurer, Taft & Pennoyer.

The social session which followed included hat-trimming contest for the men and a nail-driving contest for the women. Miss McDermott, Miss Ford and Miss Monroe presided as judges, and their task was not an easy one. George Crininger received first prize among the men. Miss Emily Raleigh carried off first honors in the nail-driving match.

Adjournment to the tea room followed, where refreshments were served. The annual ball will take place in May and one of the affairs that all look forward to with much anticipation.

Cupid Plays Havoc With Telephone Girls

CHICAGO, Feb. 25.—Chicago telephone girls got married at the rate of about 1200 a year. Cupid thrives, it seems, on the melodious polyphonic "drip-a-dick, please." And as for the telephone company's officials, it has long been their belief that "matrimony is the bane of the service."

These disclosures resulted from an investigation at the Central Exchange, following a dispatch from Washington, D. C., which stated that according to an investigation conducted by the government, thirty-two per cent of the telephone employees of the country are unmarried.

The very immediate spread through the city that "matrimony is rare in the telephone exchanges."

Hundreds of operators tilted their noses with scorn at the thought.

Woman of Estate Lives in Squalor

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 25.—Although possessed of an estate worth $20,000, Mrs. Caroline Riddmann, aged seventy-one, sleeps upon a bed of newspapers in a case of her father at 502 Pennsylvania avenue and wanders about the streets gathering rubbish of all sorts which she piles up in her rooms.

On Thursday morning the aged woman fell into eight feet of water which has accumulated in the cellar of one of her houses and was rescued by passing strangers.

Her inability to care for herself led her adopted son, Richard Henry Riddmann, to apply for letters of guardianship over his aged foster parent and Judge Graham decided yesterday that he should place her under the care of a responsible person.

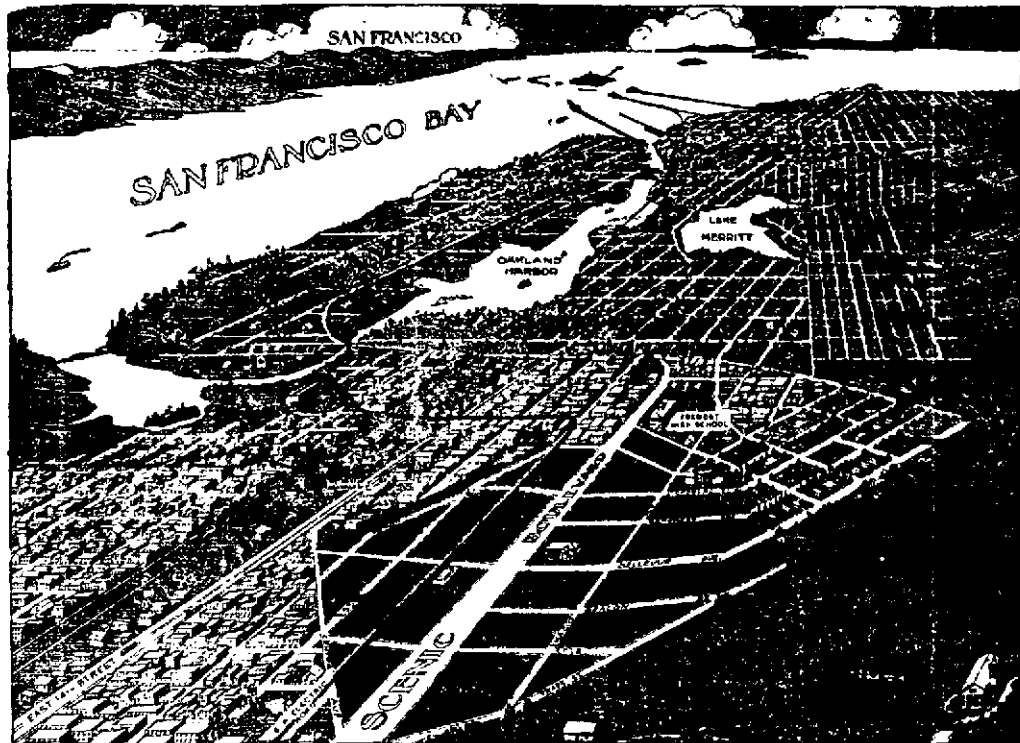

Husband Lured Away By His Affinity

For nineteen years Carrie M. Glafie kept house and cooked for Charles Glafie and then he rewarded her for her fidelity by falling in love with another woman and deserting his wife for the affinity. Last evening Superior Judge Harris granted an interlocutory decree of divorce to Mrs. Glafie in accordance with the facts in the case.

Big things are going to happen at Melrose Heights this Spring

Buy here before the railroad comes and you will make big money

☛ The Southern Pacific is spending over a million dollars to put an electric interurban train service between their Alameda Mole and Melrose Heights. When these trains start running Melrose Heights will be the bon ton residence district of Alameda county. Flat dwellers of San Francisco will flock to this section in greater numbers than they did to Piedmont and Berkeley when the Key Route started their ferry service.

☛ The contractor, home builder or man seeking investment who selects a few choice home sites now before the trains start running will realize more on his money than in any other investment on the market today.

☛ The balmy, even temperature at Melrose Heights makes it the home-lover's paradise. The temperature is many degrees warmer than Oakland and cold winds and fogs are unknown.

RATE WAR ON IN OCEAN FREIGHTS

Bates and Chesbrough Will Operate New Line to Panama.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 25.—What may eventually prove to have been the warning call of a New York-San Francisco rate war was sounded yesterday when the American-Hawaiian Steamship Company announced a decided reduction in the carrying rates of wine between the two ports. In shipments of less than 500 barrels the rate was made at 40 cents a hundred pounds, and on shipments in excess of 500 barrels 25 cents a hundred. While the company maintains an indifferent silence as to any fear of competition being behind the reduction in rates, it was common talk in the streets after the announcement was made public, that the proposed independent line of the Bates & Chesbrough company cut a considerable figure in the action of the other company.

WILL OPERATE ROUTE.

The plans for the institution of the independent line between San Francisco and Panama, as undertaken by Bates & Chesbrough, are rapidly nearing completion. H. S. Bates left San Francisco yesterday for an extended trip through the East, where he will complete negotiations, now under way, for the purchase of vessels to operate on the new line.

The steamship J. L. Luckenbach has been chartered by the company, and will leave New York the latter part of March, making the trip through the Straits of Magellan with a mixed cargo of merchandise, loaded at New York and Philadelphia.

General Flieger, before his death in 1906, was for years prominent in official and military circles.

THWARTED IN LOVE LEAPS INTO BAY

Young Girl Wearies of Life
Because Mother Opposed
Sailor Wooer.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 25.—Her mother's opposition to her love for Harry Edwards, seaman on the cruiser California, caused Emma Schwab, a comely 19-year-old girl of 222 Rockland avenue, to leap from the main deck of the cruiser into the bay yesterday afternoon. Her mother, who was with her on the boat, knew nothing of the attempt at suicide until hearing shouts, she turned and saw three sailors going over the side of the boat after the girl.

"Your daughter has jumped overboard," Captain H. H. Mayo exclaimed to Mrs. Schwab. He had hardly given the message before Emma Schwab had grasped the sinking girl. Assisted by Seaman Welch and Boatwain's Mate Sanderson, who had gone overboard with him, Miss Schwab was gotten to the side of the boat and taken on board.

Unconscious, she was brought ashore in one of the California's launches and rushed to the Harbor Emergency Hospital, where she revived under treatment. For some time she remained in a semicomatose condition, but later in the evening recovered sufficiently to be taken home.

Harry Edwards, her sailor lover, has disappeared. Captain Mayo told the mother that he would be court-martialed if caught.

Stray Bullet Nearly Kills Infant Child

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 25.—A rifle bullet, presumably fired in target practice, crashed through a front window of Dr. A. C. Rinderson's residence, 2253 Union street, Thursday morning, and narrowly missed Isabel Carmichael, a 18-month-old niece of the physician, and her nurse.

Whizzing past the child and the nurse, who held her, the missile imbedded itself in a volume in the bookcase near at hand.

As the bullet is of a type used in military rifles, the theory is that it came from the Presidio, either from the target range, which is in sight of the window, or from a carelessly handled rifle. Fired from close quarters, the bullet would have gone through the volume and the wall beyond it.

The nurse, Miss Eddy, was standing at the window with the baby in her arms when the bullet crashed through the pane. It left a hole little larger than a dime, and the surrounding glass was very little shattered. The police and the military authorities are investigating the case.

RATING SYSTEMS MAY BE CHANGED

Special Examiner Contends for the Proportional Service Basis.

BAKER CITY, Ore., Feb. 25.—In a hearing before Special Examiner George F. Brown, representing the Interstate Commerce Commission, this city yesterday, Baker City submitted evidence in support of a contention that freight rates to this city should be based upon a proportional service charge.

The case is said to be the first brought before the Interstate Commerce Commission upon that contention alone, and if successful will mean the establishment of an entirely different system of railroad rate making throughout the United States.

Using the rate to Portland from New York as a basis of 100 per cent, it is contended by Frank H. McNamee, special rate expert, who is in charge of the case for Baker City, that Baker should pay only 83 per cent of the Portland rate. By the same system the rate from Omaha to Baker City should be but 50 per cent of the Portland rate. At present Baker City pays on an average of 45 per cent greater rate than Portland.

DENVER, Feb. 25.—Officials of the different asbestos companies of this country, together with English and California capitalists, are conferring in this city regarding the formation of a merger, which, if completed, will control 90 per cent of the asbestos output of the world.

Officers and representatives of the International Asbestos Company, the North American Asbestos Company, The Wyoming Consolidated Asbestos Company and several Canadian concerns are now discussing the matter, which is expected to be fully planned by Monday.

Bailey of Texas has been employed by the State of Oklahoma to assist in the prosecution of the State's appeal in the bankruptcy case now pending in the United States Supreme Court in the cases where Governor Haskell and other State officials were enjoined by liquor companies from interfering with interstate shipments.

Resists Arrest and Receives Beating

As the result of resisting arrest at the hands of Special Officer Williams in East Oakland, Ed Scanlan, a gardener by trade, who was making merry last night in the Oakland saloons, and wandered homeward at about 2:45 yesterday morning, is now suffering from severely lacerated scalp, caused by the vigorous use of the policeman's club.

The man was returning to his room in the Union Hotel, East Oakland, and was singing when the officer ordered him to stop. SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 25.—Several additional changes were made yesterday in the working force of the board of health, but none of the appointments predicted by Dr. Howard, the newly appointed chief surgeon of the emergency hospital, took place. In point of fact the surgeon had no authority to dismiss or appoint assistants, this matter being left to the board of health.

Dr. A. C. Bogle, former city chemist under the Schmitz administration, was reappointed to this position, and the resignation of Arthur O'Neill, chief surgeon at the Isolation hospital, was accepted. The resignations of several nurses and minor employees were also received.

Burglars Pursued by Posse in Pajamas

EMERYVILLE, Feb. 25.—Clad in his pajamas in the chill morning air, Justice of the Peace Coburn of this place pursued two burglars who had robbed C. Heath, a horse trainer, of over $500.

The robbery occurred at 4112 San Pablo avenue. Heath was awakened at 2:30 o'clock by a noise in his room and looked into the muzzles of two revolvers in the hands of a tall man and a short man, dressed in long overcoats and slouch hats.

"The intruders grabbed Heath's clothes and ran. Heath gave chase, firing shots as he ran and soon a crowd of bare footed and scantily clad neighbors joined in the pursuit.

"The fugitives escaped, throwing the clothes away in their flight after rifling the pockets of over $500 in cash.
